King Fuad I of Egypt Dies; Son, Sixteen, to Be King

Man Who Ruled Nile Country Since 1922 Succumbs to Throat Ailment; Prince Farouk Becomes King, But Regents Will Be in Control Till He Is Eighteen

Associated Press

Cairo, Egypt, April 28.—King Fuad I of Egypt died today after a long illness. It was aggravated over the weekend when a gangrenous condition developed in his throat, preventing him from taking nourishment. King Fuad was sixty-eight.

Crown Prince Farouk, sixteen years old, who has been attending school in Great Britain, will come to the throne under a regency until his eighteenth birthday.

FIGHT ALARMS ADDIS ABABA

Ethiopians Hear Advancing Italians Are Only 56 Miles From Capital

Canadian Press from Havas
Addis Ababa, April 28.—Ethiopian forces clashed with advancing Italian contingents about fifty-six miles north of Addis Ababa today, dispatches reaching here said. News of fighting so close to the capital caused alarm and surprise. Details of the clash were lacking here.

Associated Press
Rome, April 28.—Italy's war leader in Ethiopia, Marshal Pietro Badoglio, reported today to his government a motorized column moving on Addis Ababa already had covered nearly two-thirds of the distance from Dessale to the Ethiopian capital.

An official communique on his report said:
"On the northern front, our motorized column which left Dessale advanced 140 kilometres (ninety-two miles) along the motor road to Addis Ababa, without encountering resistance."

"Another column, which left Uoria, advanced about fifty kilometres (thirty-one miles), reaching the Uacit River. Sultan Aussa Mohammed Jaho reached our line and made acts of submission to the military authorities."

ON SOUTHERN FRONT
"On the Somali front our victorious offensive is continuing. The air corps co-operated with the greatest efficiency in actions along the entire front."

Italian dispatches indicated that Sasa Baneh, on the outer line of defence of Harar, on the southern front, was at least surrounded, if not already occupied.

Commons Radio Committee Hearing About "Mr. Sage," Is Told of Don Henshaw's Case

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 28.—Further history of the "Mr. Sage" broadcasts produced in the interest of the Conservative Party last fall, was disclosed before the Commons radio committee today in examination of Don Henshaw, radio adviser to the J. J. Gibbons Advertising Agency, Toronto.

Thomas Magliadery, Deputy Minister of Immigration, earlier told the committee no political or personal considerations had influenced the decision of the department to allow an appeal by Henshaw, a United States citizen, from a deportation order obtained by the immigration inspector in Toronto.

"Mr. Henshaw was present at all 'Sage' broadcasts as supervisor for the Gibbons agency, but he did not play any role in the sketches. He was scheduled to be examined further at resumed session this afternoon."

Henshaw told the committee the question of his status as United States citizen had been discussed by him with Hon. J. Earl Lawson, Dominion Conservative organizer, and Denton Massey, Ontario organizer, but he had received no assistance. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Paris, April 28.—The wheels of party discipline have begun to revolve. In all the 434 divisions where a second ballot is necessary on May 3 following last Sunday's vote in France's general election, organizations of both the right and the left are gathering their forces for the final struggle.

Little Socialists are retiring in favor of a Communist. In one division of Tarn-et-Garonne a Radical Socialist is retiring in favor of a Radical Socialist.

Toronto "Gas Demonstration" Is Innovation on Continent

Men in gas masks, distributing preparedness pamphlets, paraded through Toronto streets the other day as low-flying planes flew over the city dropping leaflets. In what was believed to be the first demonstration of its kind on the North American continent. On a principal business corner, one of the masked "missionaries" is shown above as he passed out the appeal of the League of Nations Society, which sponsored the event.

MILLIONS FACE STARVATION IN WESTERN CHINA

Sharp Earthquake Shakes Szechwan Province As Scenes of Horror Witnessed; Cannibalism Reported

Associated Press
Chungking, Szechwan Province, China, April 28.—This city, surrounded by a countryside in the throes of starvation, was shaken today by a heavy earthquake.

The earthquake caused only small damage in the city, but the alarm was great. The area of the quake was believed to extend throughout west China, over Szechwan and Kansu provinces, where there was no way of determining immediately how great the damage may have been.

The terrible famine sweeping Szechwan and north Honan provinces assumed the proportions of a national disaster today with estimates of the number of natives dead or facing death ranging from 10,000,000 to 30,000,000.

CANNIBALISM REPORTED
Chinese vernacular newspapers reported some hunger-maddened victims were resorting to cannibalism and that other starving parents were selling their children to gain money for food. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 8)

A. W. CUTTEN FACES CHARGE

Associated Press
Chicago, April 28.—Charged last month with attempting to evade $415,515 in 1929 income taxes, Arthur W. Cutten, Chicago grain trader, was accused by the federal grand jury in a second indictment today with attempting to evade $20,944.66 in 1930 and 1933.

Yarmouth, N.S., April 28.—The Yarmouth motorship Muriel Jean foundered off Gannet Rock, twenty miles from here, early today and her crew of seven took to dories. They were picked up by a passing steamship and arrived here early this afternoon.

The Muriel Jean was a coastal freighter.

The seven rescued men were none the worse for their experience.

Quebec M.P. In Stormy Scene

J. F. Pouliot, Temiscouata, Refuses to Withdraw Statement About Bennett and Rushes From Chamber; Challenge For Speaker

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 28.—This capital's political gossip today waited in acute eagerness to see what would happen to Jean Francois Pouliot, tempestuous Liberal member of the Commons for Temiscouata, Que., who stormed from the chamber yesterday evening shouting his refusal to obey a ruling of the Speaker.

The peppery Pouliot, lawyer, author and House member for twelve years, stamped from the floor after Speaker Cagrain had ordered him to withdraw an assertion that former Prime Minister Bennett had written a letter guaranteeing a $60,000,000 loan for the Canadian Pacific Railway and neglected to consult his cabinet colleagues first.

Mr. Bennett demanded withdrawal, saying the statement was untrue.

AT COMMITTEE HEARING
Mr. Pouliot said the story had been disclosed before the House banking committee. He said he had not the record with him so he was unable to quote it exactly. He declared he was sure of the facts, however.

The Speaker ruled he must withdraw, and Finance Minister Dunning urged him to do so, but the fiery member, whose great-grandfather, grandfather and father before him were politicians, rushed from the House, waving his arms and shouting: "I will see the book before withdrawing."

His other remarks were lost as he charged down a corridor.

Later he said there was a possibility he had made a mistake. "If I am wrong," he declared, "I will withdraw. If I am right, I won't."

VANCOUVER HAS NEWEST "RACKET"

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 28.—Police today were searching for the perpetrators of a "racket" of which telegraph messengers have been the victims. Several messengers reported receiving calls to pick up telegrams at fictitious addresses. While searching for the addresses given their bicycles were stolen.

One of his early visitors was a farmer from Lethbridge who was against Aberhart until he decided to go into "technical default" on a loan which matured recently.

"You know that took courage," the farmer told me. "I didn't think he'd do it. Now I'm all for him."

Next two Jewish gentlemen spoke with the Alberta Premier. As might be surmised their interest was in financial matters. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

Much Interest in Revenue and Expenditure Plans to Be Laid Before House at First Session Since Liberal Party Returned to Power

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 28.—Finance Minister Dunning told the House of Commons today he expected to present the budget Friday. It would be another "May Day" budget, the anniversary of his last in 1930.

RUMOR OF BRITISH LOAN TO GERMANY

Canadian Press from Havas
London, April 28.—Reports the Bank of England is considering a loan to Germany were revived here today, despite denials in official circles.

While it appeared certain no definite arrangement had been reached, financial sources declared the loan would be granted if the Reich would pledge itself to the following conditions:

1. That it would entertain no aggressive intentions toward Austria or Czechoslovakia.

2. That it would retain Dr. Hjalmar Schacht as its Minister of Economy.

There has been much interest in what changes—if any—will be made in federal taxation this year. The cabinet has been busy for weeks, but, as usual, full secrecy has been maintained and no details of the budget have reached the public.

It will be the first budget since the Liberals returned to power last fall.

Ottawa, April 28.—Details of the manner in which the provinces will share in approximately $84,000,000 which the federal treasury will spend on works and relief in the current fiscal year will be determined at successive conferences, first of which will open this week with Ontario.

Labor Minister Rogers will receive Premier Hepburn of Ontario and other members of the provincial government probably next Thursday.

Conferences with other provincial governments will be held as soon as possible to negotiate new relief agreements replacing those which expired at the end of March.

The legislation empowering the federal government to deal with relief during the current fiscal year has passed the Commons and will be taken up by the Senate, which resumed its sittings this afternoon.

The Upper House had not been in session since before Easter.

Since the old relief legislation expired at the end of the last fiscal year, March 31, arrangements have been continued on a temporary basis. New agreements will be reached, probably on the basis of reduced relief expenditures coupled with wider distribution of money on works.

Aberhart Forces Groomed For B.C.

Social Crediters Plan Drive in This Province at Next Provincial Election, Alberta Premier Tells Victoria Times News Editor; How Long Can Victoria Carry on Paying Half Income in Debt? He Asks

By ARCHIE WILLS
News Editor of The Times
Calgary, April 28.—Premier William Aberhart of Alberta has both ears cocked for any advance information as to when Premier T. D. Pattullo and his government may go to the country. His forces will be groomed to invade British Columbia. He thinks fifteen good speakers from Alberta would convert the people of the coast province into Social Crediters, and provide a government similar to his own.

Mr. Aberhart was a passenger from Vancouver to Calgary, and he proved of easy access to fellow travelers. He does not travel in a drawing-room or a compartment like many politicians. A lower Pullman berth is all he needs. He spent Friday preparing his address for Sunday evening before his large Bible institute here, but he was prepared at any moment to disengage himself from that activity and talk on his problems as premier of Alberta or his Social Credit doctrine.

One of his early visitors was a farmer from Lethbridge who was against Aberhart until he decided to go into "technical default" on a loan which matured recently.

"You know that took courage," the farmer told me. "I didn't think he'd do it. Now I'm all for him."

WENDEL CASE ARREST MADE

H. Weiss, One of Five Accused of Kidnapping, Taken to New York

Brooklyn, N.Y., April 28.—District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan announced today the arrest of Harry Weiss, one of five men indicted in the Wendel kidnapping case, in a small town in Ohio.

Geoghan said Weiss was being brought to New York and would reach here tonight.

Weiss, charged with four others with the kidnapping of Paul H. Wendel whose repudiated "confession" brought a stay in the execution of Bruno Hauptmann, was traveling toward New York when he was arrested in a town "about eighty miles from Cleveland."

Geoghan said Weiss's wife had directed the officers to Weiss's hide-out.

Ban on Sunday Frolicking Sought

County commissioners have promised Sheriff W. T. Farmer their co-operation in banning music and dancing in county beer parlors on Sundays.

Farmer told the commissioners liquor played a part in many Sunday automobile accidents. He charged girls only partly clad have been dancing in dance halls on Sunday's, the majority coming from the Canadian side of the border, he said.

Farmer said he did not object to resorts and beer parlors selling beer on Sundays, but did object to Canadians bringing hard liquor to county beaches.

Discuss Loans and Refunding For City

Victoria's Financial Problem Put Before Provincial Government; Debt Conversion Taken Under Advisement By Council

For six years Victoria has had to postpone retirement of serial debentures amounting to about $200,000 a year by refunding. It has had to borrow funds to meet relief charges in order to prevent a skyrocketing mill rate. Normal debt redemption has slowed up as a result. Interest on its $16,000,000 debt amounts to more than $8,000,000, roughly half the civic budget. It has struggled each year to maintain a forty-one mill rate on a rapidly dropping value of land. Assessments on land have declined more than 20 per cent in six years. In the meantime the problem of reversions is an ever-increasing one.

This, in a nutshell, was the situation which Mayor Leeming and the city council's finance committee laid before the provincial government yesterday, seeking ways to overcome it. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

Ottawa, April 26.—President Herbert Moore of the Transradio Press Service of New York will give an opportunity to appear before the Commons committee on radio broadcasting to testify with respect to the news broadcasts furnished by that company to Canadian stations.

Chairman A. L. Beaubien read a letter today from the company stating representations to the committee April 7 by a press delegation had been "erroneous," and it was desirable that the Transradio Company be permitted to give its side of the picture.

It was agreed that the Transradio Company be permitted to send a representative. The letter indicated Mr. Moore would come.

The committee also agreed to hear representatives of station CHAC, Montreal. The Mutual Federation of Canada and the Young Men's Canadian Club, would be heard Thursday.

PIONEER OF ISLAND DEAD

J. W. Vipond of Nanaimo
Passes in Seventy-fourth
Year

A resident of Vancouver Island for seventy years, known as a great lumberman in the years before the Great War and as one who followed the trail of '98, Joseph William Vipond died at his home in Nanaimo late last night, in his seventy-fourth year.

Born in Illinois, Mr. Vipond came to Vancouver Island at the age of three. His father was a squatter at Wellington before the Dunsmuir coal mines started. The son was raised on the farm there.

As a man he moved to Nanaimo, and set up in the team business there. WAS NUMBER WITNESS

In 1898 he set out for the Klondike with five others. Three of the party, Clausner, Ericson and Henderson, fell behind, and Clausner murdered his two companions, robbed them, and hid their bodies in the ice. Joseph Vipond was called back to serve as a crown witness. Clausner was convicted, and took poison in the Nanaimo jail shortly before the time set for his execution.

After this tragedy Mr. Vipond went back into the Klondike once again, taking pack horses with him.

On his return from the north, he became superintendent of the Chehalis Lumber Company's logging camps.

LOGGED AT COWICHAN

In 1906 Mr. Vipond went into logging on his own account at Cowichan Lake. For seven years he drove his logs down the Cowichan River, and he stated to have been the only man ever to have done so at a profit. He employed 125 men every season, and had the record of only losing one man in the seven years.

In 1907 he made the record cut of the Pacific Coast, 13,000,000 feet from one claim. The whole cut was driven down the river, and jammed in the canyon near the Riverside Inn. It took half a ton of powder to loosen the logs.

In 1913 Mr. Vipond retired, and settled in Nanaimo.

For the last few years his health, sapped by the rigors of logging, had been slowly failing.

Mr. Vipond is survived by six brothers: George, James and Thomas of Wellington; Shephardson of Nanaimo; Robert, cashier in the Johnson Street liquor store here; and Jack of Vancouver, and one sister, Mrs. D. G. Alexander of Vancouver.

Funeral arrangements are not yet completed.

ABERHART FORCES GROOMED FOR B.C.

HEARTY LAUGH

I then had an hour with Mr. Aberhart. He is a large man with a firm, strong hand. He is well groomed and a bowler suits him quite well. He has a little hair left, white and silky. He has a hearty laugh, speaks easily, can talk steadily for a long stretch, but can become a keen listener when he accepts a piece of information. He is very friendly, but he is not a politician with a cigar for everyone.

During our discussions he evinced much interest in British Columbia politics because he feels Alberta and the coast province should be a unit, politically. He is anxious to know when the next provincial election will be in B.C. Premier Pattullo is serving his third year now, and even if he went to the country in his fourth year Social Credit will be ready for a fight.

HIS ORATORS READY

Mr. Aberhart feels that some of his orators can do the trick. An explanation of his principles is all that is needed.

He does not think the C.O.F. would be much of a factor if the gospel of Social Credit were properly preached. Labor is strongly behind Social Credit, he says.

He denies that his party has lost prestige in Alberta.

"If I went to the country tomorrow he would be returned with a bigger majority," he said.

REFUNDING AT 2 1/2 PER CENT

His plan is to refund the entire debt of his province at 2 1/2 per cent. The present average interest on the debt is 4 1/2 per cent. He is convinced the bondholders will accept his proposition.

Next he will go to the aid of the over-crowded farmer. Most farms in Alberta are heavily mortgaged. Some farmers are paying 8 and 10 per cent on their loans on both farms and machinery. The interest on mortgages will be brought down to 5 per cent.

That is going to be a very popular move by Premier Aberhart. The farmers will all be with him if he puts it over.

DECENTRALIZATION

The Premier has plans to keep the people in the small towns and stop their migration to the larger cities. He will have a large electrical scheme carried out and people will get electricity at cost. This will enable the people in the smaller towns to have all the modern conveniences and particularly movies.

PLANS FOR WORK

By means of subsidies, dividends and work he hopes to have every able-bodied man at work this summer. Manufacturers in Alberta will be subsidized against outside competitors. He plans to build a concrete highway from the United States border to Calgary, a distance of 250 miles for the purpose of catching the American tourists. It will provide a new route for the tourist to Banff and Lake Louise.

He intends to pay 25 cents an hour for unskilled workers and they will work for six months, but their pay will be spread over twelve months, so that they will not be in financial difficulties in the winter.

"If we don't have too many unemployed flocking in from other provinces we will employ all our able-bodied men," he said.

VICTORIA'S TROUBLES

Mr. Aberhart was interested in Victoria's health insurance scheme, and in Victoria's financial situation.

When he heard half of Victoria's revenue was applied on interest and debt charges all only common sense.

"How long do you think you can carry on that way?"

Premier Aberhart in discussing his "technical default," said there was nothing else for him to do. His government inherited a treasury without a dime in it and the Dominion Government declined to lend, and so he let the interest payment pass.

When questioned regarding his progress since taking office, he pointed out that he had only been premier eight months. He inferred that much will be accomplished shortly which is what all politicians say.

But just the same Mr. Aberhart is trying a bold experiment, and those kind of men are worth watching these days.

King Fuad I of Egypt Dies, Son, Sixteen, To Be King

countered the first attack on his throat.

A brother-in-law, another Khedivial prince, fired a pistol at him in the fashionable Cairo, Nijma Club one night in the eighteenth century, and the bullet struck his throat.

His recovery was slow and imperfect, leaving a curious nervous reaction, half laugh and half cough, of the throat muscles.

Physicians have not linked the old wound with the present illness by more than coincidence.

First crowned ruler of Egypt in 2,000 years of the ancient land's later history, King Fuad I won for himself recognition as a wise and congenial monarch.

In 1929 he made a six months' tour of Europe, visiting Sicily, Italy, Germany, Switzerland, France and England. Two years before he had visited France and England, greeted by royal and popular acclaim.

Agile and alert, the sixty-seven-year-old king in 1935 was confronted with anti-British riots which threatened to dislodge the cabinet. On the eve of the cabinet's planned resignation, in December, he decreed restoration of the 1923 constitution, which had been suspended a year before.

The move restored a semblance of peace among the country's opposing political groups and the cabinet did not fall.

ACTIVITIES OF W.A.F.D.

The Ward (Nationalist) Party's activities at times furnished cause for concern over Anglo-Egyptian relations.

In 1930 the internal situation was serious. In June a newspaper published photographs purporting to show documents which, if genuine, connected Premier Nahas Pasha and certain colleagues with an unsavory intrigue.

Seizing the opportunity to tighten his rule, King Fuad forced Premier Nahas to resign the next month, dismissed parliament for three years, and announced he would take the reins of government into his own hands. Later he made Mahmud Pasha, Liberal leader, premier under his hand.

NEGOTIATIONS UNDER WAY

The troubled political situation in Cairo, including the revival of the Ward Party strength, leading up to street rioting in recent months, the interplay of British and Italian opinion, and the emphasis on military questions placed a heavy burden of worry on the Egyptian monarch.

His death came at a time when peaceful negotiations were underway for a new treaty of alliance between Britain and Egypt.

BORN IN 1868

Fuad was born March 26, 1868. Until he was ten years old, he attended a special school in Cairo, then spent two years at school in Geneva and later attended the Italian military school at Turin, where Victor Emmanuel, now King of Italy, also was a cadet.

King Fuad was twice married and is survived by Crown Prince Farouk and five daughters. In 1896 he married Princess Chivekwa and they had one daughter, Princess Fawzia. The others were the Princesses Fawzia, Fadia, Fala and Fathia.

FROM ENGLAND

London, April 28.—Egypt's new king is the sixteen-year-old Crown Prince Farouk, whose teachers have described him as the "perfectly educated boy."

The death of his father, King Fuad I, came on the eve of the Prince's planned departure for Cairo from Henry House, Kingston Hill, where he has been studying for entrance to the Royal Military Academy at Woolwich.

The six-foot prince will rule under a regency until he is eighteen years old.

Good looking, affable and unusually mature in appearance, Farouk has been carefully educated from childhood in keeping with his father's wishes. "It is nothing to be prince, but it is something to be useful."

The prince has been a resident of England since last October, living in a large stone mansion with a personal staff.

It was stated the prince still planned to leave for Egypt tomorrow.

Bank of France Drafts Changes

Will Propose New Set-up If Left Government Comes Into Power

Associated Press

Paris, April 28.—The Bank of France, expecting a new left government to emerge from the parliamentary elections with a plan to "reform" it, was reported to have drafted already its own reorganization plan.

Financiers said that although the bank did not expect a demand for nationalization of the institution, it awaited a campaign to give greater representation on the board of regents to minor shareholders and to the government.

A leftist government should start such "agitation" after the run-off elections next Sunday for a new Chamber of Deputies, financiers said. The Bank of France would propose:

1. That every share be given one vote, in place of the present rule restricting the right of vote in "general assembly" to the 300 biggest shareholders.

2. That two or three high Treasury officials, and possibly other government chief, be added to the bank's board of regents.

"REAL MASTERS"

Left wing politicians have contended the "real masters of France" are twelve elderly regents of the Bank of France.

The bank, a private institution, issues France's bank notes, holds $5,000,000,000 francs in gold and has assets of $5,500,000,000 francs. Many of its millionaire shareholders are hardly known to the fellow citizens.

"There cannot exist in France two powers—that of the state and that of the stockholders," former Premier Edouard Deladier, president of the Radical Socialist Party, declared during the election campaign. "The Bank of France is a gold storehouse accessible only to the rich."

The French franc is quoted currently on the New York market at about 6 1/2 cents.

The committee proposed that $40,000 (about $200,000) be set aside to provide for the contingency of the King's marriage, but that this sum be not drawn so long as King Edward remains unmarried.

REVENUES FROM DUCHY

Included in the recommended civil list are the following sums: For His Majesty's private purse $110,000 (about $550,000); salaries for the King's household, including retirement allowances, $124,000 (about $620,000); and expenses of the household, $125,000 (about $625,000).

The King, however, will not draw the $110,000 provided for the private purse as long as his revenues from the Duchy of Cornwall remain above $102,000 (about $510,000) a year.

The other members of the royal family will receive a total of $194,000 (about $970,000).

FOR DUKE OF YORK

The committee recommended the sum of $25,000 (about $125,000) for a possible Prince of Wales (in the event the King should marry and become the father of a son). This would be provided from the revenues accruing from the Duchy of Cornwall, which traditionally belong to the Prince of Wales. With the death of King George and the accession of his son as King Edward the title Prince of Wales lay dormant.

A sum of $70,000 (about $350,000) would be set aside for a queen-consort, should King Edward marry and his queen out-live him.

LABOR PROPOSAL

The committee report showed C. R. Attlee, leader of the Labor opposition in parliament, suggested all revenues from the Duchy of Cornwall should be turned over to the Treasury, in exchange for payment of a fixed sum to the private purse, but the committee rejected this proposal.

KING GEORGE'S REIGN

The civil list in the reign of King George V, including the sums paid to members of the royal family other than the King and Queen, was $248,700 at the beginning of the reign, in accordance with the recommendations of a similar select committee of the house appointed in 1910. The civil list of the late King, however, was set lower on the first ballot due to "exaggerated plots." "Never mind, we must do our duty," he asserts.

ANALYSIS MADE

The Excelsior classifies 182 out of the 184 deputies elected on the first ballot as 137 hostile and fifty-five favorable to the Popular Front.

Examination of the popular vote reveals that the Communists gained ground not only in the big industrial districts, but even in many rural areas. Of 10,645,956 votes cast last Sunday the three major parties of the Popular Front—the Radical Socialists, the Socialists and the Communists—secured 4,743,106 against 3,598,005 on the first ballot in 1932.

The popular votes of the three parties compare as follows with 1932:

	1932	1936
Communist	796,630	1,453,923
Radical Socialist	1,864,284	1,887,209
Radical Socialist	1,836,991	1,401,974

Thus approximately the Radical Socialists lost 400,000, the Communists almost doubled, gaining nearly 700,000.

Le Matin predicts the Communists may win fifty seats in the next chamber, but it doubts whether the left bloc as a whole will control many more votes than in the last legislature.

According to official tabulations:

184 of the 618 districts elected candidates by a majority over all on the first ballot last Sunday, with 434 left to be decided by next Sunday's run-off vote. Of the seats decided by the first ballot, parties of the Centre took sixty-four, those of the Left sixty-three, and the Rightists fifty-seven.

The Communists polled 1,500,000 votes, or twice as many as in the 1932 elections.

Paris, April 28.—(Canadian Press from Havre).—The Communist advance in last Sunday's election is a warning the French Republic Centre bloc must reform for the second balloting next Sunday. Foreign Minister Flaminio, Centre leader, declared.

KING'S INCOME IS ARRANGED

The committee proposed that $40,000 (about $200,000) be set aside to provide for the contingency of the King's marriage, but that this sum be not drawn so long as King Edward remains unmarried.

REVENUES FROM DUCHY

Included in the recommended civil list are the following sums: For His Majesty's private purse $110,000 (about $550,000); salaries for the King's household, including retirement allowances, $124,000 (about $620,000); and expenses of the household, $125,000 (about $625,000).

The King, however, will not draw the $110,000 provided for the private purse as long as his revenues from the Duchy of Cornwall remain above $102,000 (about $510,000) a year.

The other members of the royal family will receive a total of $194,000 (about $970,000).

The committee recommended the sum of $25,000 (about $125,000) for a possible Prince of Wales (in the event the King should marry and become the father of a son). This would be provided from the revenues accruing from the Duchy of Cornwall, which traditionally belong to the Prince of Wales. With the death of King George and the accession of his son as King Edward the title Prince of Wales lay dormant.

A sum of $70,000 (about $350,000) would be set aside for a queen-consort, should King Edward marry and his queen out-live him.

LABOR PROPOSAL

The committee report showed C. R. Attlee, leader of the Labor opposition in parliament, suggested all revenues from the Duchy of Cornwall should be turned over to the Treasury, in exchange for payment of a fixed sum to the private purse, but the committee rejected this proposal.

KING GEORGE'S REIGN

The civil list in the reign of King George V, including the sums paid to members of the royal family other than the King and Queen, was $248,700 at the beginning of the reign, in accordance with the recommendations of a similar select committee of the house appointed in 1910. The civil list of the late King, however, was

New Board For The C.N.R. Soon

Commons Expected to Lose
No Time in Passing Bill For Seven Directors

Ottawa, April 28.—The Canadian National Railways Bill provided for restoration of management of a board of seven directors, given second reading in the Commons yesterday evening without a recorded vote, is expected to be put through the committee stage this week.

Observers expect early announcement that S. J. Hungerford, machinist's apprentice forty-five years ago, and now president, will be chairman of the new board that will replace the present three trustees.

Railway Minister Howe announced the offices of president and chairman would be combined. He did not name Mr. Hungerford, but the praise he gave him was taken to indicate the veteran railwayman would be appointed.

The railway minister said it was blunt statements concerning the present board of trustees—Ex-Judge C. P. Fullerton, chairman, J. E. Labelle, K.C., and F. K. Morrow.

Here are some of them: "The trustees have made no real progress toward the improvement of our railway situation and they have failed to achieve any substantial cooperative economies with the C.P.R. to secure which was the principal object of their appointment."

"Internally there is much unrest among C.N.R. employees who everywhere appear to regard the trustee method of direction and control with distrust and suspicion."

"This is primarily due to the fact that in matters of actual management the chief operating officer with the titular rank of president (Hungerford) is subordinated to a trustee board of three laymen inexperienced in railway problems and who know nothing of actual railway practice."

While millions of Chinese are facing certain death from starvation, other millions are suffering "deficiency" disease which missionary doctors say must lead inevitably to their deaths.

The famine in Szechwan province is the first ever to visit this former land of plenty.

The disaster in Honan province, in central China proper, is the worst there since 1920, when millions perished as a consequence of floods and droughts.

In Honan, once law-abiding Chinese farmers, crissed by hunger, have resorted to cannibalism in search of food, which has become almost non-existent there.

Three large government banks in Szechwan have raised a loan of about $180,000,000 to be used for purchase of seed for rice crops, but informed sources say this was only "a drop in the bucket." Missionary doctors say millions more would be required to cope with the situation.

Court Presumes Man Is Dead

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 28.—Chief Justice Aulay Morrison yesterday decided in the British Columbia Supreme Court that Morden Starr Stewart, one of eight miners lost in a snowslide on Motherlode Mountain more than a year ago, was dead.

Stewart came from Brockville, Ont., and was employed by the Taseko Motherlode Mines in the Cariboo district. He was a nephew of Hon. Hugh Stewart, former Federal Minister of Public Works.

Bodies of the other seven men were recovered about three months after the slide. Searchers also found a few bones which they believed were those of Stewart.

Administration of the estate, including $478 due him for wages and a small sum in the bank at Goldbridge, B.C., was granted to Arthur W. Jervis, official administrator for Cariboo.

There are 204 police stations, with a total of 21,650 officers and men, in London.

John Medland Of Toronto Drowned

Hamilton, Bermuda, April 28.—The Canadian National liner Lady Hawkins arrived here an hour behind schedule yesterday evening, for flag at half-mast for John Medland, prominent Toronto businessman, who suffered a stroke on the deck of the ship early yesterday morning, slipped through the rail overboard, and was drowned. He was sixty years of age.

Award of $8,500 Upheld on Appeal

Privy Council Decides For Calgary Woman and Against Imperial Bank

London, April 28.—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council today dismissed with costs the appeal of the Imperial Bank of Canada against Mrs. Victoria Begley of Calgary.

The Supreme Court of Canada had awarded Mrs. Begley the sum of $8,500 with interest at 5 per cent dating from June, 1929. The appeal arose originally from her suit in December, 1932, against the Imperial Bank of Canada, in which she alleged the bank had wrongfully permitted James Wesley McElroy, her attorney, to draw out her savings amounting to $11,000. She alleged $8,500 of this was used to pay a debt of McElroy to the bank.

The Alberta Supreme Court gave judgment for Mrs. Begley. The Alberta Court of Appeal, however, when the Imperial Bank appealed, reversed the judgment. Mrs. Begley then carried the case to the Supreme Court of Canada, which upset the Alberta Appeal Court's decision. The Imperial Bank then carried the case to the Privy Council.

South Africa to Add Defences

BUSSES FOR ROYAL CITY

New Westminster Proposes
B.C.E.R. Put Motors in Place of Street Cars

Canadian Press
New Westminster, April 28.—A suggestion for substitution of the street car service in New Westminster and district with busses was made by Mayor F. J. Hume yesterday at a meeting between the city council and W. G. Murrin, president, and E. W. Arnott, assistant transportation manager of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company.

Mayor Hume said the British Columbia Government was prepared to spend $200,000 in re-routing of street car tracks to provide clearance for the north approaches of the new Fraser River Bridge. That money could be better spent, he said, in removal of the entire electric railway system in the city and providing of bus transportation. Hon. A. Wells Gray, Provincial Minister of Municipal Affairs, had tentatively approved the suggestion, he said.

AIRMAN MARRIES
Edmonton, April 28.—(Canadian Press)—Pilot Arthur Rankin flew out of the north yesterday with a bride.

Pilot Rankin and Miss Dorothy Medlock, assistant postmistress at Grande Prairie, Alta., were married at that point yesterday. The honeymooning couple arrived here late yesterday by airplane. They will motor to the Coast for a honeymoon.

Parliament Told of Government's Plans to Build Up Air Force and Anti-tank Branch

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 28.—Government plans to build up a new anti-tank branch, disclosed to parliament yesterday, far-reaching plans to build up the defence forces of the Union of South Africa.

He said the measures would within five years give South Africa 1,000 air pilots and an anti-tank battalion with the most modern anti-tank weapons, capable of being transported 50 miles in forty-eight hours.

Mr. Pirow said it was proposed to form from the civil aircraft twelve squadrons of high speed multi-engine bombing planes.

WATCHING OTHERS
At the same time he warned it was uncertain whether these measures would prove adequate and added that South Africa might find within a year or two that she required three times the present number of first-line aircraft. In emphasizing the need for this expansion programme, Mr. Pirow drew the attention of the members to the lessons of the Italian campaign in Ethiopia.

The minister declared that ultimately a common native and common defence policy for the Union and the whole of British Africa south of the Sudan seemed inevitable, but he believed there was no necessity to force the pace in this connection.

"Our attitude towards our northern neighbors is as cordial as that of Great Britain to us and any help we can give in connection with building up their air force or with any other means of defence will be theirs on the same generous basis as British applied to us," he said.

TO DEFEND FREEDOM
Mr. Pirow emphasized South Africa was not preparing for war in the near future, but merely taking elementary precautions "which every nation must bear in mind if it values freedom and independence."

He also disclosed to parliament that his technical department was exploring the possibility of manufacturing in South Africa various military necessities hitherto imported, including airplanes, engines, steel helmets, gas masks, rifle barrels, aircraft bombs, artillery ammunition, grenades and armored cars.

A survey also was being made, Mr. Pirow announced, of industrial possibilities for war purposes which he said would ensure supply of the necessary stores without dislocating civil requirements and without profiteering.

Albertans Plan New Industries

Premier Aberhart Plans Provincial Marketing Commission

Canadian Press
Edmonton, April 28.—Government assistance to encourage new manufacturing industries in Alberta and organization of a government-owned electric power system were announced as objectives by Premier Aberhart yesterday.

Simultaneously, adoption of some plan to build up a reserve fund in "foreign" money to meet exchange requirements, as well as a provincial marketing commission to develop both domestic and extra-provincial consumption of Alberta goods were declared by the Premier to be necessary under his government's policy.

All these developments, he said, were being planned as factors in establishment of a system of Social Credit.

NO HANDING OVER OF AREAS

Baldwin Tells Commons
Britain Not Giving Lands to Germany

Canadian Press
London, April 28.—Prime Minister Baldwin gave the House of Commons further assurance yesterday that the government is not contemplating transferring to Germany any of its mandated territories, while outside the House a group of Conservatives met to form a committee to "safeguard British interests."

Meeting under the chairmanship of Rt. Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery, former Secretary for the Dominions and Colonies, the group issued a statement declaring "there was nothing in the statement made by the Prime Minister to diminish the need for vigilance or for insistence on explicit assurance from the government that no cessation of these territories will be contemplated."

The committee announced it would meet regularly "to take steps to see the question is constantly before parliament and the country."

HAVE OBLIGATIONS
The Prime Minister made a full statement on the question. After explaining the mandates had been allocated among the principal Allied and Associated Powers at the end of the war and that the mandatory powers, accepting the territories from the League of Nations, had undertaken specific obligations, he added he had been advised that before any transfer could be effected it would be necessary to secure the consent, at any rate, of the present mandatory and of the proposed transferee, as well as the unanimous consent of the League Council.

"The question of the transfer of mandates," the Prime Minister proceeded, "is one which, were it contemplated, would require the most careful consideration, and would have to be subjected to procedure of the most elaborate nature. It could not, in any circumstances, be subject to any sudden, hasty decision."

He added that the government's policy, Mr. Baldwin repeated, "that they have not considered, and are not considering the transfer of any mandated territory."

He thought a great deal of misapprehension existed among members of the House must be due to a belief the government had already been considering such a possibility, notwithstanding denials, and that the House might later be faced with a decision on the subject.

"That apprehension is quite unfounded," the Prime Minister declared.

"Members may rest assured the government has no intention whatsoever of raising the question themselves, and in the event of any question arising regarding the future status of the mandates (the government) would not commit themselves to any settlement without giving the fullest opportunity of discussion in this House."

Trekker Is Given Sentence

Canadian Press
Regina, April 28.—Fifth man to be convicted on a charge arising out of the Regina rioting of last July 1, Kenneth Forsyth, twenty-one-year-old Scot, was sentenced in the Court of King's Bench here yesterday to six months in jail for rioting.

The verdict carried a rider recommending leniency, the first instance of a jury so recommending since the trials of On-to-Ottawa trekkers opened April 14.

The sentence was the shortest yet passed by Mr. Justice H. Y. MacDonnell.

Threat to commit P. H. Makaroff, K.C., defence counsel, for contempt of court was made by the judge when Mr. Makaroff began his address to the jury.

"The accused to under no illusion as to the outcome of this case," Mr. Makaroff began.

"If you take that line of argument, I'll hold you guilty of contempt of court," Mr. Justice MacDonnell interrupted.

BOARD SEEKS FRY FOR LAKE

Shawinigan Lake, April 28.—At a meeting of the Mahat Board of Trade last week, it was decided to apply to the provincial game board for a supply of trout fry for restocking Shawinigan Lake.

This course was taken after advice was received from Major J. A. Motherwell, supervisor of Dominion fisheries, that his department had handed over the fish hatchery at Cowichan Lake to the biological board for experimental purposes in ascertaining the best methods of improving sport fishing on the island.

The board discussed the subject of cheaper fares on the E. & N. Railway between Shawinigan Lake and Cobble Hill for children attending Cobble Hill High School, an application to this effect being made to the railway company.

A request to the Dominion Public Works Department for a landing float at Cliffside on Shawinigan Lake has been made, it was reported.

Prisoner Loses His Life at Alcatraz

Associated Press
San Francisco, April 28.—A prisoner made a futile attempt to escape from the Alcatraz Island federal prison here yesterday and met death when he plunged over a sixty-foot cliff as guards tried to help him.

Joe Bowers, forty, mail robber, died from a fracture of the neck.

He tried to scale a wire fence enclosing the work area on the west side of the island, over a hill from the San Francisco shore.

Montreal Strike Comes To End

Canadian Press
Montreal, April 27.—Settlement of a wage dispute between manufacturers and members of the dress cutters' union was announced today by Bernard Shans, manager of the International Women's Garment Workers' Union.

About 500 cutters went on strike last week following collapse of negotiations between the manufacturers and union officials and threatened to force out nearly 10,000 employees in associate industries.

NEW RULE FOR CIVIL SERVICE

Not Above 80 Per Cent in Any Federal Branch To Be Permanent

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 28.—Permanent employees in any unit of the government service in future are not to number more than 80 per cent of the total persons employed, according to an order-in-council passed by the government, it was learned yesterday.

The action was taken on advice of the Treasury Board because of the many permanent employees appointed since the ban of permanent appointments was lifted last July 16. It was decided such a step should be taken in the interest of efficiency and economy. The order provides the regulation will not disturb the status of any employee now in the public service.

Hope the order-in-council would not complicate the situation respecting long-term temporary employees was expressed in a joint statement from civil service officials.

V. C. Phelan of the Civil Service Federation of Canada and J. A. MacIsaac, president of the Civil Service Association of Ottawa, issued the statement and said it was expected their organization would make representations to the proper authorities with respect to working out of the new regulations.

SCANDAL OVER BRITISH TAX

Chamberlain Asked to plain News "Leak" Which Preceded Budget

Canadian Press from Havas
London, April 28.—The "tax budget scandal" was discussed in the House of Commons yesterday when Chamberlain of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain was asked to explain the "leak" which allegedly enabled many persons to obtain last-minute insurance against the increased levy envisaged in the 1936-37 budget.

Charges that insurance companies were delaying with applications for policies on the eve of the budget's presentation were heard here late last week. Budget secrets are traditionally known only to cabinet members and high treasury officials.

Asked what measures he had taken to learn the source of the "leak," Mr. Chamberlain said an investigation already had been initiated by Lloyd's. The latter's agents had been instructed to obtain lists of the last-minute applicants from insurance brokers in an attempt to determine responsibility for the apparent advance information, he said.

ANOTHER BABY IN STORK RACE

Toronto Mother, Seeking
$500,000 Prize, Has 17th
Child in 18 Years

Canadian Press
Toronto, April 28.—Mrs. Arthur Hollis Timeck, who seeks the $500,000 in the Charles Vance Miller baby race, is the mother of a four-pound three-ounce baby girl, seventeenth in eighteen years. Miller left the money for the Toronto mother giving birth to the most babies in the ten years following his death October 31, 1926.

Mrs. Timeck today declared the baby girl was definitely the last. She displayed the birth certificate of ten babies she claimed were born since the date of Miller's death.

Mrs. Matthew Kenny, who February 3 became the mother of what she said was her twelfth child since the Toronto barrister and sportsman died, claims leadership in the stork derby. The baby was stillborn but Mrs. Kenny points out the will makes no mention of such births or of children dying in infancy.

"WHISPER-OF-DEATH"—1936 MODEL

A FEW DAYS AGO THE MONTREAL Star gave prominence editorially to Canada's railway problem and since then a copy of the editorial in question has been liberally distributed throughout Canada. We are told at the outset that "an able and authoritative writer, in collaboration with the best railway authorities on this continent, has presented to a million and a quarter of Star readers a picture of the present railway situation, and has kept constantly in view the persistent undermining of the foundations on which the Dominion has rested, its past achievements, its present status and future prospects."

The prospect which The Star envisions is a gloomy one indeed. We can agree with our eastern contemporary that the railway situation of this country is one which must engage the serious attention of the transportation companies themselves and the government of the Dominion, but when The Star alludes to what it calls this "overshadowing problem" as the one involving the saving of Canada, suggesting that it may not be saved "from a fast approaching crash and the chaos that must follow," it is not manifesting much faith in the resourcefulness and indomitable courage of the Canadian people. We quote The Star again:

"While, in order to help in finding a way out, the people will be, or at least should be, tolerant of past errors of judgment, they are beginning to discern the direction in which the ship is steering. The people are somnolent now, but when the ship has been engulfed in a great national disaster, there will be groaning and moaning as realization comes of what the crash means to every man, woman and child in Canada; and in addition to the moaning and groaning there will be heard straight across the country from Halifax to Vancouver a scream of censure and of rampant indignation that will astonish those who are now asleep. The time has arrived for an honest, speedy endeavor if the country is to be saved. Any members of Parliament who act so blindly as to hinder a solution will deserve the country's condemnation."

We recall that it was about this time eleven years ago that the two large Montreal dailies—The Star and The Gazette—began what came to be known as a "whisper-of-death" campaign which had for its target the government of Mr. Mackenzie King. Boiled down to simple language, they solemnly warned the Canadian people that if they gave the Liberal administration another term of office they would be deliberately heading themselves to economic disaster.

It is not necessary to go into the details of political history between 1925 and 1930. Except for a short period, Mr. Mackenzie King was Prime Minister until the summer of 1930, and from the time that economic disaster for Canada was predicted by The Star and The Gazette business conditions from coast to coast improved to such an extent that an external trade worth more than $2,600,000,000 had been built up, or an increase of more than $750,000,000. Then again, at the end of the fiscal year ending March, 1933, the annual external commercial exchange had dwindled in value—under the government supported by The Star and The Gazette—to less than $900,000,000.

In view of these facts—they are supported by official statistics—are the Canadian people going to be frightened into the belief that, formidable though it may be, made more formidable by the introduction of policies for which The Star and The Gazette have stood; the railway problem of their country is one that threatens them with "crash" and "chaos"? Our guess is that they are made of sterner stuff than those who are behind this 1936 model of "whisper-of-death."

HOW BRITISH JUSTICE WORKS

THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE hanging of a woman does not make pleasant reading; but British justice recently ran its inexorable way—and Mrs. Dorothea Waddingham, an experienced nurse and mother of five children, paid the supreme penalty for poisoning an aged cripple undergoing treatment in her nursing home, to win an inheritance of a fairly large sum of money. And it may be said that if ever there was a case designed to show how British justice manages to get along without all the latter of sentimentality and soft-headedness which afflict some varieties, this was it.

There evidently was no doubt as to Nurse Waddingham's guilt. However, there was a man in the case—the father of two of Mrs. Waddingham's children—who was tried with her and found not guilty. But because Mrs. Waddingham had five children, because it may have seemed that she was not solely responsible for the crime, and because the execution of a woman is never a matter which ordinary folk can contemplate calmly, the jury that convicted her added a strong recommendation for mercy. The trial judge endorsed it. The public signed numerous petitions to the same effect.

All this made no difference. These appeals went to the convicted British criminal's last resort, the Home Secretary—in this case, Sir John Simon—and he refused to intervene. Despite her five children, despite public sympathy, despite the attitude of judge and jury, Mrs. Waddingham was duly hanged in the manner prescribed by law.

The British have what has been described as an old-fashioned notion that murder is a serious crime. They feel especially bitter about poisoners. Poison is so easy to administer, so hard to detect; the British seem to feel that, unless poisoners are given the heaviest penalties the law allows, without exception, their tribe will increase beyond all endurance.

So Mrs. Waddingham was hanged, in spite of everything. And the next time some English nurse feels moved to slip a little rat-killer into a wealthy patient's soup, it is quite likely that Mrs. Waddingham's experience will rise before her mind's eye and cause her to pause. Says one United States commentator about the Waddingham case:

"All this is worth going into because, in America, we never seem able to adopt that eminently sensible viewpoint. Our sentiment always goes out to the killer, not to his victim."

"If we had had Mrs. Waddingham over here, we would have had innumerable appeals, stays, reprieves, and pleas for clemency. In the end, the lady might have spent as many as five years behind the bars; and her case would have been no deterrent at all to other potential poisoners."

"The contrast is too striking to overlook. British law may at times be heartless and cold, but it is strictly logical. And—which is very much to the point—it does put the fear of God into murderers."

RADIO DISCRIMINATION

IT WAS TIME SOMEONE STARTED something, as the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce now have, about the state of radio affairs in Victoria and on the lower part of this island.

The establishment of national broadcasting in Canada was heralded as the only way of assuring every part of the country programmes through Canadian stations. On that understanding it was accorded popular support. Yet, as far as the Canadian Radio Commission seems to be concerned, Canada is bounded on the west by the coastline of the mainland of British Columbia. That is, until it comes to the collection of radio license fees, of which Victoria and the lower island contribute between $25,000 and $40,000 a year.

For such a contribution, this area should at least be guaranteed that the programmes it has a right as a part of Canada to hear should be broadcast in a way that they can be received by the average set owner. Satisfactory reception of the broadcasts from the Radio Commission's facilities in Vancouver seems to be not possible. Because of poor reception from Vancouver in other parts of the province, the "B.C. Network" was established, linking up stations such as those at Trail and Chilliwack. Neither of these stations serves a population as large as that on the lower part of this island, yet they have been accorded the radio link-up that has been denied Victoria. The cost of the cable connection from the mainland to the island is given as reason for not linking with Victoria. But such a reason is hardly convincing to people in this area. The suggestion has been made that if the Canadian Radio Commission were really desirous, linking with Victoria could be effected at less cost by means of a short-wave broadcast across the Gulf from Vancouver to the Victoria station. This method is now in use for carrying broadcasts over the long gaps across the oceans.

A Victoria station linked to the national network is not only required for perfect reception here, but also to give Victoria a break in the way of programme contributions. As matters stand now, the money collected through licenses in this area goes east, part of it to pay performers in Montreal, Toronto, Halifax, and sometimes in Regina and Vancouver. But without the station connection, Victoria artists are denied such broadcasting opportunity. Altogether, there seems to be justification for the feeling of people here that they are suffering from discrimination at the hands of the radio administration.

The Victoria Daily Times salutes The Vancouver News-Herald on its third birthday and congratulates it upon its fine forty-page issue. The staff which turns out this morning daily in Vancouver will admit willingly that it is not all "beer and skittles" turning out a morning paper in Vancouver. The members of that staff, however, having passed through rather difficult times, are doing a good job, and The Times hopes they will be able to celebrate many more birthdays.

What Other Papers Say

IN A BASUTO VILLAGE
The Johannesburg Star

The headman of a Basuto village in south Basutoland was marched into the magistracy the other day by the native police, and was accompanied by the principal chief of the district, named Goliath, and a large number of followers, all armed with guns of all kinds, Basuto battle axes and assegais.

There had been a skirmish because the headman had been ordered by the Paramount Chief of Basutoland to pay a fine of three head of cattle to Chief Goliath. The order was ignored and the headman issued a warning that he would shoot anybody who attempted to take his cattle.

The police were sent to see that the fine was paid, but were met with a loaded gun, and eventually Chief Goliath, with his armed followers, took the culprit by surprise early in the morning, when he was duly arrested. But the headman managed to fire four shots, wounding two men, though not seriously, and was himself cut about the face by a man whom he had threatened to shoot, but who got in his blow first.

When the affair was all over the fool of the village amused the rest by performing a mimic war dance.

SPEAKING OF WHISKERS
The Regina Leader-Post

Remarkably good work can be done with a set of whiskers in a month in some cases. Sometimes, however, it takes years to seed, cultivate and bring along to shot blade a real good crop. It has been estimated that a good handle-bar moustache of the old school requires at least six months' hard work before it is fit to walk out in public. Like Rome, a beard reaching down to one's watch chain cannot be built in a day or anywhere near it. One has seen these things nursed along for years before they could be said to "compare favorably."

INSULATED HOMES
The Brandon Sun

One of the suburbs of Toronto seeks to amend the building by-laws so that every home there should be properly insulated. In most homes in our Canadian winters all the rooms in an ordinary dwelling house cannot be used. The reeve of Forest Hill advocates a scheme whereby plans for any new house should be passed by some competent authorities as having adequate heating facilities.

Loose Ends

At this season Victoria looks almost civilized—Mrs. Noggin is prejudiced against Germans—and a pitiful tale is told.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

IN APRIL

WHENEVER I feel doubts about the progress and achievements of Canadian civilization, whenever I feel an inferiority complex coming on because of the greater cultural achievements of older nations, I like to take a look at Victoria's gardens. Here is a definite contribution toward a better world. We may have produced no poetry of any account, no prose, no outstanding art, nothing in the realm of science but a sea serpent who may, indeed, be outside it; but we have produced the garden; and it has always been, since Adam's time, one of the best and one of the most important expressions of the human spirit.

At this time of year it is instructive to see what progress the high and speedy art of gardening has made. I can remember when I was a boy that the average Victoria garden had hardly risen above a few annuals and some dingy-looking shrubs, reminding you of an undertaker's parlor. That was not so long ago, but even then most of the plants common to nearly every garden now—such ordinary things as arbutus, aralia, alysium—were considered a great rarity, and a coteaster was a coteaster, newly arrived and held in general awe.

Now you find the gardens of Victoria swarming with these things and thousands of others which our grandfathers had never seen—things which explorers have brought out from the remote wilds of China and India and South Africa, risking their lives among savages simply to beautify the modern man's home. It is in the use of these things that the modern man shows his character. You can almost look at a garden about Victoria these days and know at a glance the character of the man who lives with it—the fussy little fellow who plants a row of daffodils, like soldiers all in line; the dull, unimaginative man, probably a successful captain of industry or a learned statesman, who has planted shrubs in geometrical formations; the vulgar, worldly person, not yet accustomed to the wealth which modern gardening has made available to everyone and who has covered every rock in the place with a vulgar flood of purple aubretia, yellow alysium, white aralia and the trailing phloxes, a garish display like the painted face of a staid woman.

And then, in large estate or poor man's cottage you find the work of the true artist—every plant in its proper place, the right soil, the necessary light and shade, the whole so perfectly natural that you can hardly realize that man has made it. It is for it looks like nature itself, in its loveliest form. A man who has made such a garden has contributed more real creation to the world than most of the poets, scientists and statesmen. He has harmed no one in the process; he has improved the stern face of the earth and he has probably saved his own soul. On the whole, I should call Victoria's gardens at this season one of the most hopeful manifestations of Canadian civilization.

HUN

MRS. NOGGINS was telling me today about the tragedy which has come into the life of young Mr. Boggs, who lived next door to her. Mr. Boggs' tragedy came in on four legs, extremely short and attached to the extremely long body of a little brown dachshund.

"The dash dachshund," said Mrs. Noggin, "is a kind of dog, you know, and German. People used to 'ave 'em before the war, but after that nobody wanted 'em until a few years ago. Now they're under a cloud again, as you might say, since that feller, 'Tiger got 'em. I never liked the Germans myself and I knew Boggs 'ad made a mistake when he bought this 'ere dash dachshund. He bought it for his wife, you know, to keep her company—and she expectin' her second along of June.

BONE DRY CORDWOOD

"Well, sir, that dash dachshund liked Mrs. Boggs fine. Her father was half German, which may account for it. But do you think it would look at Boggs? Not 'im. Boggs tried everything. He petted the brute and fed it cookies and candy, but it wouldn't eat it. Bless me, it wouldn't even eat 'Amberg steak and it's a German mind! Whenever Boggs comes in the 'ouse it crawls under Mrs. Boggs' chair and growls. And Mrs. Boggs takes the side of the dog, of course.

"Poor Boggs is gettin' desperate. 'It's come between me and my wife,' the pore young feller says to me. 'I tell you,' he says, 'it is breakin' up my home.' Yes, that creature acts like Boggs didn't belong in 'is own house, lookin' down 'is long nose at 'im as much as to say, 'You pore Englishman!' And Boggs' wife, of course, she gets madder and madder till it's 'er and the dog against Boggs, and you can 'ear 'em quarrellin' all the way over to our 'ouse.

"Yes, and she expectin' her second along of June. 'If the dog goes, I go,' Mrs. Boggs says, and that long-bellied critter 'a-lyn' on the couch sniffin' at poor Boggs. When Boggs gets real mad he goes into the kitchen and sits alone, broodin', with the wife and the dash dachshund in the parlor. 'And me buyin' the brute's food,' Boggs says, with a wild look. And 'im in the parlor and me in the kitchen."

"Mrs. Boggs says 'is because the dash dachshund is so 'igh-bred and all, but this only makes Boggs madder. 'I want to tell you,' Boggs says, 'I'm as well bred as that dash dachshund ever thought of bein' and don't forget it,' Boggs says. And that's true, because 'is father was a plumber, madder, and on the school board. 'Couple of days ago,' said Mrs. Noggin, 'Boggs got desperate. 'You know what 'im goin' to do?' 'e says to me, 'I'm goin' to deal with the situation firm.' 'e says, 'You know what 'im goin' to do?' he says, like a man who is goin' to do something terrible, like murder or somethin'. 'The goin' to 'ignore 'is wife. That's what 'ignores 'em. Well, 'e done it. Boggs ignored that dash dachshund. And you know what happened? Mrs. Boggs 'as gone 'ome to 'er mother's place—with the dog. 'Well, 'e says, 'after what 'appened in the war and all, you should ought to 'ave known better than to 'ave anything to do with a German."

ROWBOAT

YOU WOULD THINK in a seaport like this, inhabited by a race who have been seafarers back into Saxon times, that it would be easy to acquire a boat, if one had the money. You will find, on the contrary, that it is the most difficult thing in the world to acquire a boat in Victoria. I don't mean a steam yacht, a battleship or submarine. I don't even mean a speed boat. I mean an ordinary rowboat. (I have been trying to locate a rowboat for months to take up to our lake to replace the canoe which a fat lady ruined last year by sitting down in it too suddenly. I am glad to say that the fat lady was somewhat ruined also, but not adequately drowned.)

Yes, I have wandered about looking for rowboats. I have ventured down on wharves along the dark, mysterious waterfront, and tried to find a rowboat which I could buy or steal, and invariably the grizzled sailors who haunt these places would look at me as if I were mad. Several times I was ordered off the wharf by mariners who looked at me suspiciously and probably told the police afterward that there were prowlers about.

I asked all my friends about rowboats and they said they were easy to get, but when I pinned them down, none of them knew where. A journalist of note said it was easy to get a rowboat built by a gentleman.

NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH READY

Lake Hill Edifice Will Be Opened Next Week by Bishop

The church of the Sacred Heart, which has just been completed on Palmer Road, in the Lake Hill District, will be formally blessed and opened on Sunday next at 2:30 o'clock, by Rt. Rev. Bishop John Hugh MacDonald, Bishop of Victoria.

Roman Catholic residents of Lake Hill and the surrounding areas, are well-pleased to have their own church, which for the present will be served from St. Andrew's Cathedral, with the assurance of a resident priest in the near future.

The church is a modern building twenty-four by sixty feet. The outer walls are stuccoed, and the fourteen foot tower is surmounted by a white cross. The arched roof and upper walls of the interior are plastered, and the walls panelled to a height of six feet from the floor. Construction was carried on by Patrick Mahoney, contractor, and the finished work is of satisfactory order. The altar is of Gothic design, and eight feet high, surmounted by a statue of the Sacred Heart, patron of the church.

The chancel is twelve by twenty-four feet, and the body of the church has a seating capacity for 200 persons with a small gallery to hold probably thirty more. Immediately behind the chancel are situated the sacristy and office. The equipment of the church for the celebration of Mass and the various services, is complete, and includes a beautifully fashioned Gothic monstrance to be used at Benediction; the various vestments in their proper order, a gift of the Church Extension Society of Montreal and Toronto; the Altar Stone, the gift of Mrs. J. J. Coffey of Montreal, National President of the Catholic Women's League of Canada; and the Stations of the Cross, in which the figures are modeled in alabaster relief.

For next Sunday's ceremonies, the choir of the Sisters of St. Ann will sing the appropriate music for the blessing of a new church, and the routine will be as follows: The Bishop vested in cope and mitre, will intone the Asperges outside the church; and while the Miserere is sung by the choir the Bishop and attending clergy will encircle the outside of the church, sprinkling it with holy water. He will then enter the church with the clergy and the people; the Litany of the Saints will be sung, and Psalms Cxxxix and Cxxxi will be recited, while the Bishop encircles the church on the inside and sprinkles it with holy water. Following these ceremonies there will be an address, and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. At the conclusion of the service, tea will be served in the Lake Hill Community Hall. Those wishing to assist at the ceremonies in connection with the blessing and opening of the church, may take the 2 o'clock bus from the Vancouver Island Bus Depot, Broughton Street. Accommodation will be provided by an extra bus if necessary.

Alberta Rebuilds, Declares R. J. Magor

Canadian Press

Montreal, April 28.—Well satisfied with developments in Alberta, Robert J. Magor of Montreal, president of the National Steel Corporation and financial advisor to the Government of Alberta, has returned here from Edmonton, where for the last three months he had been studying financial conditions in the western province.

Mr. Magor said he had been well treated by Premier Aberhart and members of his cabinet, and was gratified to see Alberta putting its financial structure on a sound foundation.

The province had, like many others, heavily discounted the future, he said, but it was a fine province and had splendid opportunities.

Wearing a ring showing it was from London, a swallow was caught recently in South Africa.

Sound Reasons For B.C. Plan

N. W. Whittaker Tells Why Health Insurance Is Needed in Province

Careful study of the needs for medical care had amply demonstrated the soundness of the provincial government's action in bringing down a health insurance measure, N. W. Whittaker, Liberal M.P.P. for Saanich, told the executive of the Saanich Liberal Association at a meeting yesterday evening.

One of the greatest proofs that health insurance was necessary was that the majority of arguments against the government's bill had been prefaced with an agreement with health insurance in principle. Objections to the bill had to do with specific details and not the underlying idea, he pointed out.

Only five out of eight persons earning less than $1,800 a year were able to pay for medical services, he said. A survey of school children in 1933 showed that of 97,000 students, 75,000 needed dental, adenoid or other treatment.

These ailments were basic causes for more serious troubles later in life and should be checked early.

The provincial government, said Mr. Whittaker, had not gone in for health insurance until after a most careful study of the entire situation. Every angle of the question had been argued and checked. Study was made of the health insurance system in England, where it has been operating more than twenty years. There the experience was that original opposition eventually turned to commendation once the scheme was working, and the benefits were now generally recognized.

Mr. Whittaker listed the different benefits under the B.C. Act, which include hospitalization, medical treatment, medicine and laboratory service.

A general discussion followed the members' talk. The subject of cash benefits came up and some of those present favored the inclusion of these in the scheme.

DR. ROBERTSON LEAVES MINE PRISON!—This exclusive Telegram staff photograph, made shortly after midnight . . . shows Dr. D. E. Robertson on a stretcher just after being assisted from the Reynolds shaft of the Magill mine, where he was trapped ten days. He was helped from the shaft and stood thanking his rescuers and shaking hands with them until virtually ordered to lie on the stretcher.

BACHELORS TO BE TAXED

Soviet Union Legislates to Curb Childless Marriages

Moscow, April 28.—The increasing importance which the Soviet Union is attaching to the raising of families was shown today in an announcement that new laws were being drawn up to curb childless marriages and to extend financial responsibility for children's upkeep to bachelors.

The laws will set up a special tax for single men and childless couples, will provide state financial aid for families with many children and will put a tax on divorce.

Regulations also will be enacted to prohibit certain operations except where they are demanded in the interests of health. This is a reversal of the former Soviet viewpoint which facilitated such operations.

Aaron Solts, chairman of the Supreme Court and member of the committee framing the new laws, asserted they were necessary to give the Soviet Union more people.

He declared that although the Soviet woman has been raised on a basis of "absolute equality" with man, she "cannot be released from the great and honorable duty of bringing children into the world."

WORLD COUNCIL PLAN CONGRESS

International Women's Body to Meet in Yugoslavia

Belgrade, April 28.—Women from forty different countries will attend a congress of the International Council of Women in Yugoslavia next autumn.

The council's full assembly will take place at Dubrovnik from September 28 to October 8 and has received a promise of patronage from Queen Maria of Yugoslavia and from Princess Olga, wife of the Prince Regent.

The main congress, which includes women from America and European countries, will hold its main congress in Dubrovnik, after which the board of officers will go to Belgrade where a public meeting on the subject of "Modern Housing" will be held.

It is expected that Prof. Patricia Abercrombie, British town-planning authority, will address the meeting.

Miss J. Taylor, chief woman inspector of factories attached to the home office, is also expected to come and to speak on "Woman in Industry."

GOSSIP HALTS ODD WEDDING

But Wealthy Boston Widow of 65 Plans to Wed 28-year-old Scribe

Boston, April 28.—The Boston Record says gossip of astonished society folk and family criticism has caused postponement of the marriage of Mrs. Frederic E. Snow, wealthy widow of sixty-five, and Baron Wilhelm Fray von Blomberg, twenty-eight-year-old press agent.

The Baron, just plain Bill Fray, who rushed copy and coffee in a newspaper office until his adoption by the aged Baroness Adelheid von Blomberg, said, however, that Mrs. Snow's determination to be married was as strong as ever.

"Mrs. Snow assured me that whatever members of her family had said has not changed her mind," The Record quoted him.

Besides the adamant opposition of aghast relatives and friends of Mrs. Snow, whose husband was one of Boston's most socially prominent and wealthiest lawyers, there appeared also the antipathy of the aged baroness.

GROWN UP

FIFTY years ago when I first saw the Pacific Coast it still wore swaddling clothes. Los Angeles a village mission, now a million. Irrigated orange groves and green acres by the million, then sage, cactus and sand. Oakland, a metropolis of 265,000, then "the bedroom of San Francisco," mostly built of wood, now one of the best built cities of the States. These twin cities, connected by the new seven-mile bridge, house another million. Sacramento, then a struggling frontier town, now a beautiful capital. Portland a lumber town, now a beautiful metropolis. Marvelous Seattle, then a two street lumber mill village, now a city of skyscrapers, helped like San Francisco, by a "good" fire and the "Seattle spirit" which lowered the hills with the buildings covering them. From the California-Oregon boundary now farms, then gigantic forests.

I must be grown up and old? Yes, in years. In body, mind and spirit younger now than then. My trip fatigued me then, not now, although I am now 78 and follow "a dog's life," nightly lecturing in crowded, foetid halls, and often daily to clubs. Why the difference? Living habits, chiefly a change in foods; once I ate dead, demineralized foods; now foods richly mineralized, vital Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy, Lishus, raw vegetables and fruit extensively, making my blood the life stream it was designed to be. My youthful vitality is due more to a free use of Roman Meal and Kofy-Sub than to all other influences together. My products are extensively used in the Pacific States although the cost is sixty cents a package. Use them freely for a few weeks and you will know why. Write for my free Bulletins on

WOMEN GROWING AIR-MINDED

Mrs. Ernest Eve, president of the Victoria branch of the Women's International Association of Aeronautics, has received an interesting copy of The Aero-Gram, the official organ of the association.

It contains a message to Mrs. Wynne Grant McGowan, the president, of Beverly Hills, saying in part: "I think that peace can be established only when nations come to recognize their interdependence and the union of their interests. Then we shall have world co-operation and a real League of Nations. Towards this women can do as much as men."

Lady Hay Drummond-Hay, the president, wrote from Egypt after flying there, and a number of items from members in other parts of the world make interesting reading, showing the growing air-mindedness of women the world over.

Tickets can be obtained from any member of the club or at Wachter's newsstand, Yates Street; Cope's Shoe Store, Douglas Street, or at Dorman's Clothing Store, Douglas Street.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Cereal for the young baby can be cooked in both milk and water and this makes it possible for baby to get right in the cereal and over it, some of the milk which otherwise he might refuse from the bottle.

In making the first small portions of cereal the mother may take three ounces of milk and three of water and stir into this when boiling one tablespoon of any fine wheat cereal and a pinch of salt. Let it cook in a double boiler for one-half hour.

DON'T FORCE CHILD

The initial feedings of cereal consist of only one teaspoonful, offered before the 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. feedings. This amount may be increased by one spoonful daily until baby is taking the usual amount suggested for his age.

But no measured amount need be forced. Baby may take from two to six level tablespoons daily, in two feedings, or he may take less. He may also take variable amounts from day to day. No food should be forced on a child after he has begun to rebel against it and obviously no longer regards it with relief.

DILUTE ORANGE JUICE

Mrs. J.M. asks this question and one other: "How shall I prepare orange juice for a five-and-one-half months old baby? Should it be sweetened and should it be fed by spoon or bottle or cup? Also, should it be diluted with water?"

This and all the usual questions about feeding are covered in our leaflet, "Feeding From Two to Nine Months" and "How to Increase the Amounts of Foods," which may be had for a self-addressed and three-cent stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

Naturally, sweet oranges are best. Strain the juice and dilute one teaspoon of this with the same amount of boiled water. Offer this by spoon. As you increase the amount give it by cup. You may offer an ounce or more twice daily after the baby gets used to it.

POPULAR PAIR IS MARRIED

Miss Alice Mellor Becomes Bride of George E. B. Dyke

The marriage of Alice Maude, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mellor, Glenford Avenue, Saanich, to Mr. George E. Bennett Dyke, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Dyke, was solemnized at the Church of Our Lord, Free Church of England, yesterday evening at 8.30 o'clock, when Rev. A. de B. Owen performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion by Mrs. T. Hammond and Mrs. G. Lillie, plum blossoms, daffodils and white nargolias being used in profusion. Entering the church to the music of the Lohengrin "Bridal Chorus," played by Mr. T. R. Myers, the bride, escorted by her father, was an attractive figure in her gown of white crepe back satin, fashioned on princess lines, with long sleeves fitted with tight-fitting cuffs and self-trimmed buttons. Her only ornament was a pearl necklace and pendant. A small white satin turban trimmed with orange blossoms adorned her head and white silk gloves and white shoes completed her outfit, while she carried a sheaf of Columbia and scarlet roses, shading from cream to deep red, tied with white satin ribbon.

Mrs. W. H. Grimm, sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor and chose a beige silk lace gown with a small lace collar and a large beige picture hat trimmed with velvet flowers in pastel shading. She carried an arm bouquet of blue iris, yellow tulips and fern. Mr. Thomas Little acted as groomsmen and Messrs. B. Case and James Rennie were ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where the young couple stood under a bower of plum blossoms to receive the congratulations and best wishes of their friends. The bride and groom were assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Mellor, gowned in cornflower blue silk with grey hat and matching accessories, and Mrs. Dyke, who wore a nigger brown dress and hat with matching accessories. Both wore corsage bouquets of salmon pink carnations.

A three-tier wedding cake centred the refreshment table which was decorated in a pale pink and white color scheme with small silver vases of lady slipper blossoms at each corner.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyke left by motor to spend a honeymoon at points up Vancouver Island as far as Sprat Lake. For travelling the bride wore a brown tulle model gown, crepe dress, fashioned with Raglan sleeves; a jaeger plaid coat in brown and red, and a brown silk stitched French model hat with brown accessories.

Among the many beautiful gifts was a silver tea service from the Hudson's Bay Company, where the bride has been a popular member of the staff for the past seven years.

Weddings

BROWN-BALLAN

A very quiet wedding was solemnized in the chapel of Christ Church Cathedral this morning when the Rev. F. L. Stephenson united in marriage Isabel Margaret, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dallan, of 625 Niagara Street, Victoria, and Thomas A. Brown, fifth son of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Brown, of Victoria.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a three-piece Holland blue tailored suit, with hat and navy blue accessories with touches of pink and corsage to match. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Brown left for a motor trip to California.

OBESITY BAR TO IMMIGRANT

Englishwoman Dieting in Effort to Stay in U.S.

Boston, April 28.—Miss Nora E. Lee, fifty-one, a British subject, is dieting in an effort to stay in the United States.

The woman, who came to this country from Chorley, England, to visit and care for an ailing sister, Mrs. Annie Kerfoot, of Detroit, has been denied permanent entry, her counsel, Walter L. Cosmoline said today, because of "physical obesity."

In her efforts to meet requirements of immigration officials, Cosmoline asserted, the woman, who is four feet eleven inches tall, has already reduced about nine pounds, to 171 pounds. She came to the United States last May and was granted a temporary stay which expires August 9.

Jubilee Alumnae Have Graduates As Guests

1936 Class Attends Annual Reunion Dinner Held Yesterday Evening

Members of the 1936 graduating class, together with Miss Lena Mitchell, director of nursing, and Mrs. M. W. Thomas, were the guests of honor when the Alumnae Association of the Royal Jubilee Hospital held its annual dinner in the Beach Hotel yesterday evening, the affair being an outstanding success.

Covers were laid for 105 guests at tables effectively decorated in mauve, stocks and yellow tulips, reflecting the Alumnae colors.

At the head table were Miss E. Rosier, the alumnae president; Miss D. Hiberson, Miss M. Dickson, Miss I. Donald, Miss E. Newman, Miss E. Copeland, Miss Bradley, Mrs. L. S. V. York, Miss Mitchell, Miss E. Bland and Mrs. G. Bothwell.

Miss Rosier proposed the toast to the King and welcomed the guests. Mrs. L. S. V. York proposed the toast to the Alma Mater, Miss Mitchell responding. Miss D. Saunders proposed the toast to the graduating class, to which Miss E. Copeland, president of the March class, replied, and the toast to the Alumnae, proposed by Miss Bradley, president of the September graduating class, was responded to by Miss Helen Archer.

AMATEUR HOUR

The amusing programme took the form of an "amateur hour," with Miss Hiberson as "Auntie Bower" and Miss Rosier as director of Jubilee Hospital, advertising. Miss H. Waind gave a number of clever impersonations of famous screen stars and singers, followed by a monologue in which she was given enthusiastic applause.

Miss E. Hood delighted the guests with a song. The Glee Club, including Misses Gretchen Johnson, Margaret Dickson, Evelyn Bland, Violet Johnson and Mrs. Bothwell, sang several numbers of topical interest, with Miss Frances Winters conducting and Miss Hood at the piano. Miss Ruth Bailey appeared in a tap dance.

Miss Ruth Bailey, as "Red Coruscule," led the kitchen band composed of a group known as "Haemoglobin," and in this were Misses Gretchen Johnson, Evelyn Bland, J. and M. Coutts and Hood.

THOSE PRESENT

Among those present, in addition to the graduating class, were Mrs. A. W. Aylard, Miss T. Bradshaw, Mrs. W. H. Bullock-Webster, Miss E. Braund, Miss E. Duncan, Mrs. A. Dowell, Miss M. Dickson, Miss I. Donald, Miss D. Frampton, Miss E. Patt, Miss E. Fairhurst, Miss F. Ferguson, Miss M. Hamby, Miss E. Herbert, Mrs. J. Hesley, Miss D. Hargreaves, Miss E. DRESS DESIGN THEME OF TALK

Business Women Enjoy Illustrated Address By Victor Mott

"The Psychology of Dress for the Business Woman" was the intriguing subject of the address and demonstration given before the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club yesterday evening by Victor Mott, dress designer of this city. The meeting was held in the club-rooms, Mr. H. M. Hall, convener of the study group, being in the chair.

In his preamble, the speaker touched upon the contribution made by Paris to the art of fashion designing, recalling such great couturiers as Augustebernard, who specializes in clothes for the tall, slim woman; Chanel, the invent of modern sports clothes; Jenny, who made popular the off-white and beige shades; Lucien Lelong, whose designs are "wearably modern," yet never sensational; Maggy Rouff, who emphasizes beauty and youth; Molynieux, who was the first designer to employ beautiful models; Patou, the first designer to specialize in private showings to the press of the world; Vionnet, whose furs are famous, and Worth, who specializes in bridal and ceremonial designs.

Interest was added to the lecture by the speaker's demonstration of dress designing upon a model, Mrs. Savage.

Mrs. Victor Bartholomew, the club president, thanked the speaker for his delightful address. The members were later entertained by Mr. Mott in his "penthouse" studio in the Union Building.

CHAPTER BUSY ON WELFARE WORK

The Margaret Rocks Robertson Chapter I.O.D.E. held its monthly meeting yesterday evening with the regent, Mrs. L. A. Genge, in the chair. Mrs. Mackenzie-Grieve gave an interesting resume of the recent municipal and provincial annual meetings, and was warmly thanked for her comprehensive report.

Mrs. A. Woodcock, for the child welfare committee, reported the dispatch of a layette to a needy family in the Kootenay district. Mrs. E. O. Hood presented a report of the children's library which is being arranged in the Margaret Rocks Robertson sunroom at the Jubilee Hospital.

A special meeting of the chapter is called for May 11 at 8 o'clock in the headquarters when all members are requested to attend. Mrs. H. V. Bartholomew was welcomed as a new member.

PIANO STUDENTS GAVE RECITAL

About twenty-five aspiring young pianists, pupils of Edgar Holloway, L.R.S.M. A.T.C.M., took part in the interesting recital held in the Victoria Truth Centre on Saturday evening.

Mrs. T. A. Rickard, the guest artist, sang in her own inimitable style Handel's lovely "Art Thou Troubled" and "My Lullaby," and for her second group six of the delightful-Christie-Younger songs, "When We Were Young." Mr. Holloway lent artistic support at the piano.

The appearance on the programme of two of Mr. Holloway's pupils who were recent Festival winners, Marian Miller, winner of the Fletcher Cup (Primrose Lodge) of England, and the Daughters of England, last winner of the Willis Cup and the Music Teachers' Federation scholarship, was an interesting feature, both acquitting themselves splendidly.

Those taking part in the recital were Dorene and Katherine Pitzer, Ada Newall, Mary Dryburgh, Geraldine Williams, Muriel Clarke, Lucy Janet Henderson, Emily Kepling, Pamela Butcher, Eleanor Hourston, Ann Ridewood, Rae and Marian Miller, Jim Beckering, Patsy Wilson, John Boak, Gwendolyn Wright, Norman Anderson, Catherine Macdonald, Arthur Brown and Geraldine Paterson.

The students throughout reflected much credit upon their teacher, their technique being sound and the more advanced students displaying good tone and a facile style.

Mr. Holloway tendered his thanks to Mrs. Rickard and all who had assisted in the programme, as well as to the appreciative audience.

SILVER TEA FOR CHILDREN'S AID

A large number of members of friends of the Children's Aid and the Soroptimist Club are expected at the silver tea to be held tomorrow afternoon from 3.30 till 5.30 o'clock in the Children's Aid receiving home, Michigan Street in aid of the home, which is maintained by the club. Mrs. H. V. Bartholomew and Dr. Olga Jardine will preside at the tea table. Mrs. T. Hammond and Mrs. Shandley will assist. It is hoped the general public will support this undertaking.

BLIND PIANIST IS ACCLAIMED

Ella Koch of Regina Thrills Toronto Audience With Her Playing

Canadian Press

Toronto, April 28.—Ella Koch, blind pianist of Regina, was acclaimed today for her music mastery by 3,000 persons who heard her play the Beethoven piano concerto No. 4 in G Major with the Toronto Conservatory of Music orchestra at last night's jubilee concert of the conservatory.

Miss Koch hopes to impart to others suffering from the same handicap some of the knowledge of music she has acquired. Two weeks ago she accepted the post of piano teacher at the Ontario School for the Blind, Brantford, Ont.

Sir Ernest MacMillan, principal of the conservatory and conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, featured the concert with the world premiere of his new composition, "Te Deum Laudamus." He conducted the work himself, it being presented by the conservatory choir and the conservatory orchestra.

Sir Ernest leaves tonight on an extended tour of Western Canada to meet music teachers and discuss with them problems of teaching, examination work, and the new syllabus of the conservatory.

While in Vancouver, May 6, he will receive the honorary degree of LL. D. from the University of British Columbia. He will also visit Victoria.

LIBERAL DANCE AT METCHOSIN

A most successful card party and dance was held in the Metchoshin Hall on Saturday evening under the auspices of the Rocky Point and East Sooke Division of the Esquimalt Central Liberal Association. The prize winners for bridge were Messames Fergus Reid and Henry Helgeson, also Messames Geo. Bell and Harold Walker, whilst for the game of 800 Messames Fredrickson and Ridley also Messames Ridley and Roberts carried the honors.

The music for the dance was furnished by the Happy Valley orchestra, assisted by Messrs. Baker and Roberts of Metchoshin.

The committee in charge of the evening were Messrs. A. E. Parker, H. E. Thorne, G. H. Crosser and Fergus Reid, who extended their thanks to all who contributed toward the success of the evening. Another social evening to be sponsored by one of the other divisions of this association is promised in the near future.

GORGEOUS

BY LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

"Oh, no, Mrs. Moeller. You don't understand. I'm going to be a photographic model, like the girls whose pictures you see in advertisements. You know, you've seen hundreds of them in newspapers and magazines. Advertising soap and perfume and cigarettes and washing machines—almost everything you can think of."

"You're sure," the woman said skeptically. "It ain't the other kind? Because this is a respectable house and it's going to stay respectable. I wouldn't have one of them creatures under my roof. I wouldn't!"

"Of course, I'm sure," Toby told her. "It's one of the nicest jobs a girl can have and I'm terribly lucky to get it. I didn't dare hope I would—not really! Oh, but I've got a dozen things to do—"

She hurried up the stairs to her own room. Suddenly Toby was a bundle of energy. She forgot that she had been on her feet all day, that she had not eaten. First of all, she drew warm water and washed her hair, lathering and rinsing it over and over. Then she dried it, brushing the unruly curls until they gleamed and lay in place like a cap of burnished gold. She got out the dress she had worn that day, smoothed and pressed it and tucked in a fresh collar and cuffs. It was a task that might have waited until morning, but Toby was too excited to sit still.

At fifteen minutes after 10 o'clock next morning Toby entered the office of the Models' League. The girl at the desk recognized her and smiled. "You're Miss Ryan, aren't you," she said. "I remember you were here the other day."

"Yes," Toby nodded. "Someone called and said Mr. Blake wanted to see me."

"He does. You're a little early, though," the girl glanced at an appointment schedule. "You'll have to wait a little while—"

Toby said, "That's all right," and crossed the room and sat down. The outer door opened almost immediately and a girl entered. She was taller than Toby, slender and very pretty. She wore a grey fur coat and a small grey hat and she was carrying a rather battered-looking suitcase.

The girl at the desk said, "Oh, Harriet. I'm sorry. I tried to get you, but you'd gone before I called. Van Brent's changed the time for that appointment. He wants you at 11:30 instead of 11. I called as soon as I got word—"

The girl addressed as Harriet nodded. "I started early," she said. "Had a couple of errands on my way. Half an hour doesn't make much difference, though—I guess I might as well wait here."

She put down the suitcase, sat down in a chair near Toby's. Then she took a vanity case from her purse, opened it and studied her face critically in the mirror.

The face seemed to Toby to be quite flawless. It was heart-shaped, with brown eyes set wide apart beneath slenderly arched brows. The nose was small, the forehead broad and smooth. The chin was perfect itself. Where the grey hair lifted, at a jaunty angle, auburn hair, waving softly, was visible. Apparently the girl had used no make-up except a crimson lipstick.

She put aside the vanity case and turned toward Toby. After a moment's inspection she asked, "Are you new here?"

Toby nodded. "So new," she admitted, "that I haven't really begun to work. Mr. Blake sent for me—"

"Well, if he sent for you, you don't have to worry. He must think you're good. And, believe me, Ben Blake knows!"

"I hope I'll be all right," Toby began nervously.

"Of course you will. Studios are glad to see beginners—those that really photograph well. They're looking for new faces, you know."

Toby didn't. But she was interested in this girl who seemed to have such a fund of information. "Have you done this sort of work very long?" she asked.

"About two years. Before that I worked in an office, and then I modeled clothes in a department store. I didn't like the store much—and anyhow this pays a lot better. By the way, my name's Harriet Holm. What's yours?"

"Toby Ryan."

The other nodded approvingly. "That's a cute name," she said. "Easy to remember, too. Did you make it up?"

"No," Toby told her. "It's my real name. Lots of people think it's queer. My mother hoped I'd be a boy. She was going to name me for my grandfather, and when I turned out to be a girl—well, she called me 'Toby' anyhow."

Harriet said, "Well, I like it. And a name people remember can do a lot for a girl." Suddenly she pointed to the screen across the room on which clippings—all of them showing photographs from magazines and newspapers—had been fastened.

"See that girl over there," she said, "the one on the magazine cover?"

"Toby saw the one she meant. It was a reproduction of a color photograph, showing a dark haired girl in a yellow dress, holding a huge crimson flower.

"That's Betty Gay," Harriet confided. "She signed a movie contract the other day."

"You mean she's going to be in the movies?"

"She's leaving next week for Hollywood," the other said. "That's what I call getting a break. Betty deserved it, though. She's a peach. We've worked together on lots of jobs. All the studios have been crazy about Betty since color photography came in. That's what she's going to do in Hollywood—make color movies."

She went on, "Lots of girls who are in the movies now got their start as commercial models. There's Kay Francis and Madge Evans and Judith Allen. Yes, and Jean Muir—and Betty Furness."

LEICA DISPLAY IS HELD HERE

Two Local Amateur Photographers Receive Recognition

A photographic exhibit of unusual interest opened on Monday in the Duke of Kent room at the Empress Hotel, and will continue for the rest of the week. This display covers the entire field of photography, and is the work of Dr. Paul Wolff, of Germany, using a Leica camera.

A Canadian exhibit of forty well-taken pictures is included in this international Leica exhibit, and several fine photographs of this city are displayed by amateurs.

Among them are W. H. Squires and J. K. Hodges, manager of the Empress Hotel, who is a keen amateur photographer. Mr. Squires won seventh prize for the best amateur picture in the whole of Canada, using a Leica camera.

This international Leica exhibition of photography includes many subjects and the exhibits have been shown all over the world.

Local agents for the Leica are Joe Sommer & Son Limited and H. U. Knight.

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

Nuts are so highly concentrated a food, and so rich in protein and fat, that they should be eaten as a regular part of a meal, and not to any great extent at the end of a meal which already has been sufficient in both proteins and fats. Neither should nuts be eaten in large quantities between courses, or to add interest to an afternoon tea party.

Nuts are valuable in the diet primarily for the same food values that are found in meat. Chestnuts are starchy. Coconut, pecans and walnuts are rich in fat; almonds, Brazil nuts, butternuts and peanuts are rich in both protein and fat.

The protein of nuts contains the same amino acids as are found in meat. The proteins of Brazil nuts are shown to be ample for the requirements of the normal human body. Peanut protein has been reported to be more efficient than that of the soybean, in support of body growth.

Investigators tested peanut flour with the protein of muscle meat, supplementing the diet with "butterfat and salts, and found that peanut flour proved slightly superior to meat as a growth producer, and much superior for promoting reproduction.

Nuts in general are a rich source of phosphorus, and a good source of iron, copper and manganese. They are a poor or fair source of calcium. Nuts also are especially valuable for their content of vitamins B and A. Vegetarians are likely to encourage the use of nuts in the diet as a substitute for meat. From the point of view of economy, they may be particularly recommended.

The ease of digestibility of nuts depends on the thoroughness with which they are chewed and of course, the amount that is eaten at one time. This is contrary to the common opinion that nuts are hard to digest. This belief arose from the fact that nuts have a high fat content, but, more particularly, because they are incorrectly used in the diet.

Half an ounce of any of the common nuts will yield 100 calories. This means two Brazil nuts, a half-dozen pecans, or a dozen peanuts. The only notable exception to this concentration of energy value is the chestnut, which is about one-third as concentrated as the others.

The freshness of nuts at the time of eating is important. The most suitable way for preparing nuts for use in the diet is to brown them and then add salt.

TODAY'S HEALTH QUESTION

Q—Our little girl, aged three, has had strabismus (crossed eyes) since birth. Is an operation advisable? A—Strabismus in children usually is due to imperfect development of the eyes. Frequently, vision is poor in one eye. An operation is rarely necessary. If modern methods of treatment can be applied when the child is about three years of age.

Cathedral A.Y.P.A. Plan Concert

At the meeting of the Christ Church Cathedral A.Y.P.A. held on Wednesday evening the members were informed that all arrangements had been made to hold the concert on Saturday evening, May 9. A good programme has been drawn up, and it is hoped that the members will give it every support.

At the next meeting of the branch there will be initiation of new members. Those who have attended meetings of the branch in the past and who would like to become members are asked to attend.

Why "Aspirin" Works So Fast

WHY "ASPIRIN" WORKS SO FAST IN 2 SECONDS BY STOP WATCH

Drop an "Aspirin" tablet into a glass of water... By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is disintegrating. What happens in these glasses happens in your stomach—"Aspirin" tablets start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

Quick Relief for Headaches, Neuritis, Rheumatic Pains

The old adage says, "what you see you believe." So the scientist, pictured above, shows you two actual photographs to prove the quick action of "ASPIRIN."

Look at them, and you will see one reason why Scientists rate "ASPIRIN" among the fastest agents, now known or ever known, for the relief of headaches, neuritis, neuralgia and rheumatic pains.

You'll see that an "Aspirin" tablet, dropped into a glass of water, starts to disintegrate, or dissolve, before it hits the bottom of the glass. Hence, it is ready to go to work almost instantly you take one. For what happens in that glass happens in your stomach when you take an "ASPIRIN" tablet. Relief comes in a few minutes.

Countless thousands know that about "ASPIRIN." Know by experience that it brings the quick relief you want when in distress.

Keep this in mind the next time your work or play is handicapped by a bad headache, neuritis or rheumatic pain. Learn for yourself how fast you can get relief.

Aspirin Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trademark of the Bayer Corporation, Limited. Be sure to look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Four Plays Given At Opening Session Of Drama Festival

Miss Nellie C. Cornish Adjudicates on Plays of Widely Different Type; Special Praise For Performance of Florence Gunn in "A Bird in the Hand"

"If the whole festival gives as much variety and entertainment as this evening, I am sure we are going to have a delightful time," said Miss Nellie C. Cornish, adjudicator, at the conclusion of yesterday evening's opening session of the fifth annual British Columbia Drama Festival, attended by a large audience at the Shrine auditorium.

Miss Cornish, who is the founder and director of the famous Cornish School in Seattle, spoke of the difficulty of the position of an adjudicator when critics of world repute in London and New York often took completely different views of the same performances.

"In the theatre, she said, there were many points of view to be considered. The adjudicator's opinion must be a personal one.

The essentials of good acting were feeling, atmosphere, proper relationships and characterization.

Miss Cornish warned against the danger of getting away from the mannerisms and way of talking to be found in everyday life. This was especially frequent in historical pieces.

"In reading lines, stop and think how you would speak in everyday life. Naturalness is what we must struggle for," she said.

FOUR PIECES GIVEN

Yesterday evening's session of the festival saw the presentation of four pieces of completely different type. The first, "The Death of Snow White" was a fairy tale, made up of the third and fifth act of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," by Jessie Bramham White. The piece was presented by the Lamson Street School, Esquimalt, under the direction of the school's principal, H. W. Creelman, with the following cast: Snow White, Theodora Myers; Pedlar Queen, Laura Stewart; Blotch, Bobby Stephens; Flick, Don Fildewood; Glick, Kenneth Stewart; Snick, Duncan McLaurin; Pluck, Eric Rossiter; Whack, Walter Langlois, and Quee, Frank Jarvis.

In the first of the two scenes, the Princess Snow White, lost in the forest, comes to the home of the seven dwarfs. She goes inside, finds the house empty, samples the food laid out on the table, and then drops to sleep exhausted on one of the seven small beds.

As she sleeps, the dwarfs come home, first six of them, and then a moment later the seventh, Quee, who is the youngest, being only ninety-nine years of age.

The dwarfs go through their evening ablutions, lining up for Quee to wash past them with a wet sponge and then a towel, unaware of the girl sleeping on one of their beds. When they find their food has been touched, they search for the intruder, and finally discover her. Never having seen a girl before, they are overcome. When she wakes up, they persuade her to stay with them, and keep house for them. Quee, who has not been washed for fifty years, is ducked in the water built in honor of the occasion.

In the second scene, the queen, who hates Snow White, comes in the disguise of a gypsy woman to try and sell her a poisoned comb. When the princess refuses to buy the comb, she presents her with half a poisoned apple, and the princess falls dead. The dwarfs return and swear they will lay Snow White in a crystal coffin in the woodland glades, so they may always have her near them.

REAL CONVICTION

In her adjudication on this performance, Miss Cornish said she had considered the actors as such and not as children. "But in this play there were moments of real conviction," she said.

"I thought in the other places perhaps the teacher had interfered too much," she added. "In some places there was too much stress on the words.

"I think in children's work it is better to give them an idea of the plot and the feeling, and see what they make of it."

CHINESE FANTASY

The second piece, "The Confutation of Wisdom," was an amusing and unusual fantasy with a Chinese setting. It was presented by the Beattie Arts Club, under the direction of Enid Cole, with the following cast: Adolent, Brian Green; spirit, Hope Denbigh; boy, Denis Humphries; girl, Orrie Branfoot; father, Allister Denbigh; mother, Aileen Cullum, and dragon, Frank Taglier.

The piece is by F. Gladon-Smith. The story, in brief, is this: The ancient, in the search of the peace of sagacity, comes upon a cherry tree, bearing an inscription: "Under the cherry tree shalt thou find wisdom." He sits hopefully below the tree and goes to sleep.

A young man and a girl come running in, fleeing before their excellent and never-to-be-forgotten parents, who apparently do not approve of their elopement. The spirit of the tree appears out of the trunk, and speaks to them in epigrams, preceded with the words "receive wisdom."

Use of Dramatic Arts in Everyday Life Theme of Inaugural Address By Hon. Frank M. MacPherson Before Large Audience in Shrine Auditorium

"We are governed by the skillful use of the dramatic arts, for good or for evil. Religion, law, business, and the like are all conducted through dramatic art," Hon. Frank M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, declared in the course of his dedicatory address at the first session of the British Columbia festival at the Shrine auditorium last night.

"Looking back to our boyhood days what we are pleased to call the horse and buggy days—the parish priest or the minister was the most dramatic figure. The country doctor came next.

"Now things are different. I have seen many business deals through the misuse of the technique of drama. Progress in dramatic art is bound more and more to take its place in our lives."

Mr. MacPherson referred to the Moose River mine rescue as an example of the way in which a dramatic situation was built up, and appreciated by the average run of people.

So far, Canadians were able to distinguish the reality from the make-believe, he added.

"This province is a stage," Mr. MacPherson continued, "with tragedy, comedy, masquerades and plays-within-plays."

He brought the good wishes of Premier Pattullo, who was scheduled to have spoken at the opening session and who is absent in the east, and of the provincial government as a whole.

He congratulated the officers of the festival for their hard work and the time they had expended, and wished them success.

Mr. MacPherson was introduced by Major L. Bullock-Webster, president of the festival association.

Library Board Is Selected

J. C. McGuffie Named Chairman of Union Board for Island District

A board of fourteen, headed by J. C. McGuffie of Nanaimo has been tentatively selected to manage the Vancouver Island Union Library district. Selections were made at a meeting in Nanaimo and are yet to be confirmed.

Both Nanaimo and Ladysmith will come into the island scheme by agreement. Alberni, Port Alberni and Courtenay are already included with thirty-two rural school districts.

Sitting with Mr. McGuffie on the board of management are Ald. P. R. Inkster of Nanaimo, treasurer; Lieut. Col. A. T. Powell of Ladysmith, vice-chairman, and the following representatives: Ald. J. M. Crossland, Port Alberni; Rev. A. McLean, Alberni; Mrs. C. R. Tryon, Parksville; Mrs. A. Playfair, Qualicum; Ben Hughes, Courtenay; Mrs. Jack Carwithen, Sandwick; E. Robinson, Comox; A. J. Edward, Royston; C. Stronach, Wellington; Ald. W. Cullum, Ladysmith, and G. E. Bonner, Cobble Hill.

Miss Jean Stewart, Nanaimo, is proposed as chief librarian and secretary for the district. Nanaimo was selected as headquarters, subject to suitable premises being obtained.

IN THE OPINION of Winnipeg's sports scribe, E. A. Armstrong of The Free Press, the Trollers were robbed. And, if you're partial to the Manitobans, you can point the finger of scorn at two referees, neither of whom came from Victoria, who handled last Thursday's Western Canada basketball final.

According to Armstrong the Trollers were "biked" of two points and possibly four.

Those of us at the game saw the Trollers deprived of at least two points and possibly four when an over-ambitious pair of Dominos guards obviously committed a breach of the rules by interfering with the progress of the "ball" after it was within the basket," writes Armstrong after the second game, which the Victorians won by a single point. "The infringement escaped the eyes of the officials, who, all in all, had a distinctly off night from beginning to end."

"Both clubs complained and complained," Armstrong continued, "by reason of both teams objecting, one must infer the whistle-blowers were showing no particular favorites. Nevertheless, the Trollers and their supporters had every reason to protest the glaring interference which went unpunished."

Officials for the game were Alf Perrin and Bill Douglas, the former of Vancouver and the latter of Winnipeg. Douglas was replaced by "Bud" Haight in the third game.

According to Armstrong, Douglas had refereed only two games during the season. Now that is something which might engage more than passing interest from Vancouver's own Walter Hardwick, present president of the Canadian Basketball Association. Walter has had quite a to-do to make about basketball referees in recent seasons and Winnipeg's action in recommending referee untiring during the season will probably not meet with his approval.

And, anyhow, even if the referees hadn't been at fault, as they almost invariably are when the home team loses, the Trollers would probably have lost through the coldness of two relief players, "Smoky" Phillips and Bobby Hampton, who were thrown into the battle late in the day, according to The Free Press commentator.

To quote Armstrong again: "All such ranting and raving is futile."

British Columbia's swimming circles were highly pleased over the selection of Vancouver's Percy Norman as Olympic coach for the Canadian team. His appointment was made at the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association in Toronto over the week-end.

Percy, whose increasing rotundity implies the good nature that lies under the rolling exterior, has been working hard for swimming for a longer period than the present crop of performers can remember. In days gone by he was a stalwart of The Times swim. He could always be counted on to compete in big games of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Association here and he has always been a constructive force in building up meets between local and inland teams.

After a lengthy period of active competition and some time as an amateur coach, Percy went pro and look after the Vancouver A.S.C. His name attracted Phyllis Davies, British Empire Champion, to the coast to vie with such Vancouver - developed swimmers as Marion Moffatt, Kay Cooper and a host of others. Bobby Hooper is one of his numerous proteges.

Right now he has under his wing a trio of fancy divers, Lynda Adams, Kay Davidson and George Athans, who should rate among the best in Canada with a little more experience.

Percy replaces the well-liked Montreal A.A.A. swimming leader, Jimmy Rose, happy Scot of many Canadian teams. Norman will be a competent man in his new job. He will be on his mettle as a new man in the position, and he will have to keep on his toes to justify the selection of a westerner for the post.

It would appear from Saturday's soccer game that Spanish Thistles have come out of the slump. At one time a first-rate contender in the local lists, the Thistles failed to show much this year in league play.

John Muter Announces Standards For Canadian Trials; Marathon To Be Run

BILL BIG MEET HERE JUNE 23

Local track and field performers, gazing down the shortening road to where the Canadian Olympic trials glimmer as their ultimate goal, will step up their march towards that objective on Saturday when the first serious outdoor workout of the early summer is held at the High School grounds.

Archie McKinnon, himself comparatively inactive during recent weeks through illness, will be back on the job to start his squad away on its intensive training grind. After Saturday, the aspirants will work out three times a week, at 6 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and 2.15 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. McKinnon will groom his charges for the first big meet of the year on May 25 when the Victorians are expected to go to Vancouver in force for the C.C.F. meet, which includes the British Columbia marathon Olympic trials. The feature event is being staged largely to determine whether or not Roy Palmer, winner of the C.C.F. mile race last year, is of international calibre over the long stretch.

In 1935, Fred Leffler, Victoria wrestler and distance runner who has twice won the Britannia Branch race, placed second to Palmer. Local experts figure the Capital City contender has a very good chance of taking the Vancouver boy in the coming event.

Following the C.C.F. sports, McKinnon hopes to arrange a meet with Powell River at the pulp and paper town. If the event is staged he will take a good squad of performers to that point to give them further competitive training for other features during the summer.

Victoria's big day will fall on June 23, when the Civic Employees' Federation, sponsors of the provincial championships here last year, hold their event at Macdonald Park. According to present plans the Victoria gathering should be the form of an international meet and every effort will be made to bring over strong teams from Seattle and other U.S. points to vie with the Victorians and British Columbia stars for honors.

On July 1, Dominion Day, the Victoria runners and field performers should be at their peak for the provincial championships and Olympic trials in Vancouver.

Portures of the local club will be largely decided at that meet. Several of the boys are expected to catch places on the B.C. contingent which will move to Montreal for the national tryouts. The remainder will be given a certain amount of activity at home.

SET OLYMPIC STANDARDS Canadian Press Vancouver, April 28.—The British Columbia marathon Olympic trials will be sponsored by the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation at their annual field day here on Empire Day, May 25.

John Muter, chairman of the B.C. Track and Field Association, today announced the meet had been sanctioned by the B.C. Track and Field Committee of the Amateur Athletic Association of Canada.

The race will be run over a 26-mile 385-yard course.

Muter also announced the Canadian Olympic committee had approved the following standards, on which the selection of the 1936 Canadian Olympic track and field team is to be based: One hundred metre, 10 4-5 seconds; 200 metres, 22 seconds; 400 metres, 49 seconds; 600 metres, 1 minute 35 seconds; 1,500 metres, 5:25-5:5; 5,000 metres, 15:12-5; 10,000 metres, 31:15; 3,000 metres steeplechase, 9:40; 110 metres hurdles, 15; 400 metres hurdles, 54 seconds; hop, step and jump, 48 feet; high jump, 6.4; broad jump, 24.6; pole vault, 13 feet; javelin, 190 feet; shot put, 48 feet; discus, 144 feet; hammer, 155 feet.

However, their victory over the Dockers in the Jackson Cup semifinal marks them as an eleven of some possibilities. They should be back with their old-time snap when they stack up against the City in the final. By a queer twist of soccer fate, it remains for the two trailing teams in the league standing to fight for the silverware. Each defeated a more highly-rated squad to advance to the last bracket.

Victoria civic employees will be given sanction to hold their regular track meet on June 23, King Edward's birthday. Muter said, and Kelowna has been given permission to hold their annual meet on May 25, Empire Day.

Canadian Press Toronto, April 28.—Worries of Toronto's six-day bike race promoters were increased yesterday when a dispute developed with the International Union of Carpenters and Joiners at Maple Leaf Gardens. Pickets were stationed outside the gardens.

Cause of the dispute was the promoters' refusal to pay time-and-a-half wage on Saturday afternoon to carpenters setting up the track.

Soccer Series Open Tomorrow

Twin Bill Tomorrow After-Cup Play Starts

Wednesday Football League soccer eleven will open their bids for the Kennie and Taylor Knockout Cup tomorrow, when a twin bill is scheduled for the Athletic Park.

James Bay Wanderers will oppose Kregas in the opening tussle at 2.15 o'clock, while Spencers, present champions, will engage the Recreation Centre. P. Shrimpton will officiate in the opened, and D. McMillan will referee the second tilt.

Some keen games should be witnessed in this series before a champion is picked. The line-ups follow: Kregas—Travis, McKenzie, Coates, Jack, White, McBride, Stokes, Murray, McMillan, Newell, Duncan, Spence, D. Crowe, Alcock, Hill and Hall.

James Bay Wanderers—Saddler, Thame, Eastwood, Bourn, Fieldhouse, Garnett, Bell, Belford, Magee, White and Roakamp.

Beat Toronto Leafs in Exhibition Hockey Series in Vancouver

Canadian Press Vancouver, April 28.—By virtue of their 5 to 3 win over the Toronto Maple Leafs here last night, the Chicago Black Hawks hold a two-goal lead over the Leafs in a total-goal, three-game series for the Totem Trophy donated by the sponsors of the exhibition matches, the Gyro Club. The Hawks also hold a one-game edge over the Torontonians on their exhibition tour to date.

Led by Johnny Gottselig, clever stickhandling centerman, and their sensational young goalie, Mike Karakas, the Hawks took a 2 to 1 lead in the first period. Although Toronto forged ahead in the early part of the second, Chicago came back strong at the end of the period with quick goals by Gottselig and Burke to regain their first stanza margin. The Hawk goals were scored on breakaways when they themselves were short-handed.

Gottselig added one more on a pass from March in the third to put the game on ice.

KARAKAS STRONG Although Charlie Conacher, right-winger of the Leafs, blazed shots at Karakas, that nearly blasted the youthful custodian through the net in the dying minutes of the third period, Mike would not yield.

SOFTBALL MEETING The Saanich and District Softball League will hold its first meeting of the season at the Saanich Twentieth Century Liberal headquarters, Douglas Street, on Thursday evening. Election of officers will take place. All teams intending to enter the league are urged to send at least two delegates to the meeting.

Postal traffic for the Galapagos Islands is simplicity itself. The post office proper is just a barrel, and mail may be deposited in it for anywhere in the world by anyone who has mail to send. The mail is picked up by any outbound or passing ship and dropped at the port nearest the letter's destination; there the Galapagos mail falls into regular mail channels.

The barrel is set on a post at Post Office Bay, an anchorage at Charles Island of the Galapagos group. When the barrel post office was first put in service is unknown, but its authentic history dates back to the War of 1812. When a United States warship put in there the American captain was able to learn movements of enemy ships from letters found in the barrel.

For more than a century, then, residents of the islands have been mailing their letters by dropping them in this container and trusting that the next ship out will pick them up and re-mail them at a port where regular postal service is maintained. Of course, the same barrel has not served all these years—but whenever the old one becomes too weather-beaten, some passing ship always installs a new one.

In the West Indies the natives who wear shoes want attention drawn to the fact. Shoes that squeak announce themselves with every step, and those that do not are not as likely to be noticed. Squeaking is a decided asset to shoes in the West Indian trade and are preferred above non-squeakers.

Non-playing Davis Cup Team Captain in Whirl Over Possible Selection of Squad to Meet Australia

By BOB CAVAGNARO Associated Press New York, April 28.—Walter Pate, non-playing captain of the United States Davis Cup tennis team, is so perplexed these days it's difficult for him to call the right time of the day.

The topsy-turvy performances by members of the team which will go against Australia in the final round American zone series late in May also have sent him to the showers.

"How can I know anything!" he pleaded today when asked about the prospective lineup of the team following the victorious first round series against Mexico and tournament campaign through the south and southwest.

There's only one thing certain—three and possibly four players from among the squad named several weeks ago will be used in the attempt to hurdle Australia and land a berth in the interzone final at Wimbledon next July.

CANDIDATES Wilmer Allison, United States champion, red-headed Don Budge and the pint-sized Bryan Grant are candidates for the singles assignment; Allison and Johnny Van Ryn and Budge and Gene Mako are battling it out for the doubles berth.

"They all look just 'so-so,' although there's no denying Budge and Mako, with three straight victories over Allison and Van Ryn, look especially keen for the doubles assignment," said Pate.

singles final of the Mason-Dixon Tournament last Sunday boosted the little Georgian's chances of getting into action against Jack Crawford and the other Aussies. But Allison as champion, and Budge, for his creditable showing at Wimbledon last year may crowd out the little fellow.

Paint Boys Take City Championship With 18 to 14 Verdict Over Red Wings

The Melrose paint boys finished off their spring work in local table tennis play when they nosed out the Red Wings in a play-off series for the city championship at the Crystal Garden yesterday evening, with a total of 18 to 14 games in a two-match series. They have concluded a very successful season in the city league, not having lost a match during the season.

A close and evenly contested series was witnessed last evening, the paint boys not being sure of the silverware until the last match. To T. Chantell goes the honor of clinching the series. He beat Perkins in a double header. Welmont Brown-Cave did not lose a game throughout the latter session and play off. He netted his full quota last night.

Score of games follows: Red Wings—T. Maboe won 5 lost 3. W. Brown-Cave won 8 lost 0. J. Perkins won 1 lost 7. G. Brown-Cave won 0 lost 8. Melrose—W. Whittingham won 4 lost 4. T. Chantell won 5 lost 3. W. McGregor won 4 lost 4. C. Luxton won 5 lost 2.

Defeating a field of 182 entrants, Ellison Myers (Tarzan), Brown, Narragansett Indian, won the annual Boston marathon in 2 hours 33 minutes 46 4-5 seconds, covering the 26-mile-385-yard course in little more than two minutes over the old regd. Here Deerfoot, as he is known by his tribe, is shown breasting the tape. His victory gave him an Olympic berth.

Out of a field well bunched with eight low gross scorers forming the championship, Mrs. Zoe Huse returned a card of 95 to win the qualifying round as play opened yesterday in the Colwood Golf Club tournament.

Second and third flights were also formed. The defeated four in the first round will form the first flight

Montreal Given Olympic Trials

Canadian Press Toronto, April 28.—P. J. Mulqueen, president of the Canadian Olympic committee, announced yesterday the Olympic boxing and wrestling trials had been awarded to Montreal. Montreal will also have the men's and women's track and field trials and men's and women's swimming trials.

Victoria Cagers Ignore Superstitious Import of Number in Party

Canadian Press Toronto, April 28.—The thirteen Hinx does not mean a thing in the lives of Victoria Dominos, western Canada Men's senior basketball champions, who arrived in Toronto this morning—all thirteen of them—from Winnipeg.

The western champs left two hours later for Windsor, Ont., where they will meet Windsor Fords in the best three out of five games series for the senior Dominion title.

Manager Dave Nicol said all the players were in excellent shape and suffered no ill effect from the long trip from the coast.

Besides the nine players and the manager, the team was accompanied by President John Johnson, Frank Elliott, secretary-treasurer, and Alfred Perrin, referee, of Vancouver.

THIRTEEN KIND Thirteen has dealt kindly with the team since the beginning of the championship trek, said Manager Nicol. "We beat Vancouver Province on March 18, defeated Trail, B.C., by thirteen points, score a win over the Raymond, Alta., quintette on April 13, and won out over Winnipeg, although we lost the first game by thirteen points," he added.

"So we are not very worried about the fact there are thirteen in our party," said the western leader.

Chicago Pro Biggest Winner in U.S. Golf Lists Last Winter

Associated Press Chicago, April 28.—Horton Smith, lanky Chicago professional who would have settled for a $2,000 slice of the winter golf prize money, grabbed the biggest haul of them all—$7,048.

The twenty-eight-year-old former "Poplin Ghost," enjoying his best season in the money belt since 1929-30, was so hot he worked up a big edge over Henry Picard, sharpshooting Hershey, Pa., pro, who collected $5,310, a checkup showed yesterday.

In third place was "Light Horse" Harry Cooper, another member of the Chicago professional brigade, who brought down $5,989 between November 12 and April 14.

Official of the Uplands Golf Club are preparing to entertain a large number of golfers tomorrow when another popular "invitation" meet will be staged under the supervision of Walter Gravin, club professional.

The tourney is open to women and men and will be eighteen-hole medal play under full handicap. Competitors are asked to select their partners and arrange their own starting times.

SPANIARD BEATS GERMAN NET ACE Barcelona, Spain, April 28.—Germany, which already had clinched the series, split the final two singles matches of its Davis Cup tennis contest with Spain yesterday to make the final score, 4 to 1.

Experienced Squad Waiting For Western Champions to Open Campaign Tomorrow Night

Canadian Press Windsor, Ont., April 28.—Windsor Fords were declared ready today for the Canadian basketball championship series and the city prepared to welcome their opponents—Victoria Dominos, champions of western Canada.

Dominos were scheduled to arrive here this afternoon. They'll rest until Wednesday when the first game of the best-of-five series for Canada's premier basketball prize will be played.

The western kings face an experienced squad in Fords, playing under that name for the first season. As Windsor Alumni, the club was in four Canadian finals, winning the title in 1928; won eight Ontario crowns and four eastern Canada championships.

All the players on the Windsor squad have had at least three years' experience in senior ranks. The veteran of the team is Eddie Dawson, one of the original Alumni, who will be playing in his fifth Canadian championship series.

EXPERIENCED SQUAD

Alongside Dawson on the Windsor rearguard plays "Red" Wiseman. Wiseman has been with the team for some years and rounds out an experienced defense.

Fords' offensive is built around the dynamic trio of Jimmy Stewart, "Scrubby" Aitchison and Julius Goldman. Goldman is the centre of the line, graduate of Detroit Institute of Technology where he learned his senior basketball.

It will be Aitchison's fourth final and Stewart's first. Stewart came up from Windsor high schools and played with Walkerville Collegiate when it won the Canadian inter-school title in 1928.

Jan Allison, Norm Dawson and "Red" Nantais are the spares Coach Gordie Patterson has to choose from. They've all had much experience and the team isn't weakened when they replace any of the regulars.

Promoter No Longer Interested in Deposed Champion Claimant

Associated Press Boston, April 28.—Joe Alvarez, Boston wrestling matchmaker whose contract suit at Columbus, O., against Dick Shikat has been continued until May 12, indicated yesterday evening he had lost all interest in the German wrestler.

"Shikat is now worthless to me from a financial standpoint," Alvarez said on his return home. "His defeat at the hands of Ali Baba removes him from the ranks of the big-money getters and I think it would be a waste of time to battle for him in a court or elsewhere."

SHIKAT REPLIES

Columbus, O., April 28.—Dick Shikat, deposed champion of the wrestling heavyweight, used up about 8,000 words yesterday in filing a federal court answer and counter claim to the charge of Joe Alvarez, Boston matchmaker, that he had "jumped a managerial contract."

Shikat's answer, among other things, denied he entered into a contract with Alvarez, and contended Bower was to be the manager; charged that the Bostonians had never arranged or paid him for a match, and that a promise to return to him $15,000 of a $20,000 fee had never been fulfilled.

Uplands Golfers Will Play Duncan Uplands Golf Club will send a team of sixteen to Duncan on Sunday to engage a team from the Cowichan Golf Club in an interclub match. The return match will be played at Uplands on August 23. Players should endeavor to reach Duncan by 9.15 a.m.

The team follows: R. Morrison, H. Brynjoifson, W. H. Newcombe (captain), W. Pomeroy, J. C. Melville, R. Ford, G. K. Verley, A. D. Findlay, J. R. Hilderson, L. Hilderson, Ed Cuppige, N. Tomlin, F. L. Leslie, F. Lewis, D. E. Briske and R. R.

Steady Rise of Cleveland Indians Features Major Baseball

SMART HURLING AND STICK WORK CARRY CLUB UP

George Blaeholder Joins Ranks of Winning Tribe Pitchers to Beat Browns

Cincinnati Noses Out Chicago Cubs

By ANDY CLARKE Associated Press

American League managers are scanning the record of the Cleveland Indians these days and finding therein little solace for the road that lies ahead.

The Indians currently are leading the pack with eight wins in eleven starts this season, however, it isn't the number of victories but the way they scored them that impresses the old hands of baseball campaigning.

Steve O'Neill of the square jaw and steady eye has moulded a cohesive band of ball players who will fight you down the line until the last ball has been pitched and the last blow struck.

The Indians have been thumping the horsehide with vigor and their pitching gets better as the season moves along.

Mel Harder, Oral Hildebrand, Johnny Allen, Lloyd Brown and George Blaeholder all have been showing plenty of stuff and it will be the Indians who will have a pitching staff that may make the fans forget about the Detroit Tigers, the Boston Red Sox, the New York Yankees and the rest; Harold Trosky, the fence buster; Earl Averill, Joe Vosmik and Bruce Campbell seem capable of taking care of the heavy batting chores.

LEADING HEAVY HITTERS
Trosky is leading the league in home runs with five and his sixteen runs batted in is only one behind Bill Dickey of the Yankees.

Brown, Harder, Allen and Blaeholder all have done the distance and won. Harder and Allen each have notched two victories single-handed.

Blaeholder came into his own in his first start of the season yesterday when he held the St. Louis Browns to seven hits and won his game 2 to 1 but it was Campbell's homer in the seventh that provided the winning run.

It was the only game played in the American League, the only other major league contest being played in the national circuit where the Cincinnati Reds nosed out the Chicago Cubs 5 to 4 in ten innings.

Roy Bell, the Browns' star, got two hits in four trips to the plate, neither of which was able to keep the Indians from beating the Browns, 2 to 1, in the only American League game of the day.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

SEATTLE WILL STEEL, FISHER MEET MISSIONS BOUT TONIGHT

Week-long Pacific Coast Baseball League Series Starts Tonight

Associated Press
Seattle, April 28.—Under the glaring lights of the Seattle ball park, the Indians and the Mission Reds tonight will open a week-long hand-to-hand battle for second place in the Pacific Coast League.

The two of them have been shutting the spot back and forth for the last couple of weeks. If they keep on toasting it around, the Portland Beavers may step in and grab it away from both of them.

The hard-hitting Beavers need only a little luck in their series with the San Diego Padres and a close series at Seattle to move up from fourth to second place. They are half a game behind the Missions who are a game back of Seattle.

TOP BERTH AT STAKE
The top berth in the second division will be at stake in the San Francisco series between the Seattle franchise champions in the halcyon Di Maggio days of 1935, and the brand new Sacramento club.

Branch Rickey's Senators come to San Francisco from Los Angeles, where they greatly embarrassed league president W. C. Tuttle by taking the two right in the press's front yard. Oddly enough Tuttle has made no more remarks about the Sacramento chain store clerks not belonging to the Coast League.

GRADS RETAIN HOOP HONORS

Defeat Tulsa in Fourth Game to Keep Underwood Trophy and Title

Canadian Press
Edmonton, April 28.—Edmonton Grads retained the international women's basketball championship, which they have held for twelve years, by defeating Tulsa Stenographers 35 to 30 here yesterday evening in a game which saw the champions forced to the limit to gain a win.

Grads took the series three games to one.
Both the Underwood Trophy and the official North American title were at stake in the three-of-five series. The latter is played for only once a year between the Canadian and United States champions.

The classy United States National Amateur Athletic Union champions who defeated Grads 40 to 35 in the third game Saturday outscored the Canadians in the second and fourth quarters yesterday evening but Edmonton's defence tightened when defeat loomed.

DELL CRAIG AND T. SCOLAR WIN

Flashing some of his old-time form, T. Scolar beat T. Alexander 21 to 5 in the opening round at the quelling club's grounds on Saturday.

In the corresponding game in the same round Dell Craig nosed out J. Manson 21 to 19 and advanced to the semi-final to beat S. Watt 21 to 10.

Scolar and Craig will meet in the final at a later date.
Members are reminded that May 2 is the closing date for entries for first division play in the league which will take place evenings during the summer.

CAPITALS LOSE CHAMPIONSHIP

Nanaimo, April 28.—South Wellington juvenile soccer eleven, defeated Wimp's Capitals, Victoria squad, 2 to 1 to take the championship in the juvenile division of Vancouver Island in an overtime fixture played here.

Capitals led 1 to 0 at the half, but Nanaimo came back in the second period to equalize, and then drove home, two goals in the overtime period to win the game.

SAYWARD RESIDENT TAKES OWN LIFE

Associated Press
Sayward, April 28.—A resident of this valley for twenty-five years, Albert H. Witt, sixty years of age, ended his own life last week. The body was discovered on Wednesday by Alf Henry who went to the house with mail, and saw Witt through the window lying on his bed, a rifle near by. Local justices, A. Henry and W. A. Milne, entered the house and found life extinct. Constable M. N. MacAlpine of the provincial police took charge of the inquiry and discovered that the deceased had evidently slashed both wrists with a razor and hastened the end with a 22 bullet through the head.

Mr. Witt was a native of England, but had lived in the United States for some years before coming to Canada. He had been in ill-health. Internment took place last Thursday afternoon in the Sayward Burial Park, the burial service being read by W. A. Milne, J.P.

Indian Broom In Derby Spotlight

Cover Mile Workout in 1:38.3-5 to Draw All Interest; Brevity Put Over Course at Medium Speed

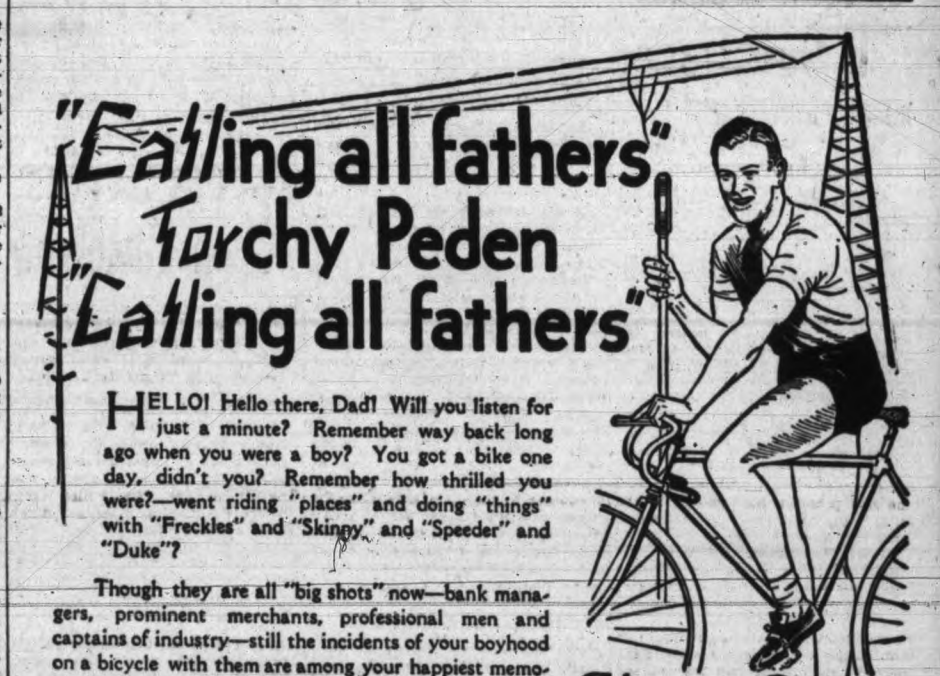

Associated Press
Louisville, April 28.—Indian Broom, from the Vancouver stable of Major A. C. Taylor, made observers look twice at their watches by working out a mile in 1:38 3-5 in preparation for the $50,000 Kentucky Derby Saturday. The Canadian horse went an additional eighth as clockers caught him in 1:33 1/2 for the mile and a furlong, with trainer Darrell Cannon flagging him down.

Indian Broom's sparkling effort took all interest away from the performance of Brevity, odds-on favorite.

Ridden by George Burns, veteran of the Canadian circuits, who will be up Saturday, Indian Broom ran the first quarter in 23 seconds, was at the half-mile pole in 46 2-5, clipped the five-eighths off in 58 3-5 and the three-quarters in 1:11 3-5. He finished out the mile in a hard drive before slackening.

Bold Venture, with Max Hirsch watching every move, also was sent the derby route. He traveled it in 2:10, breezing, after stepping off six furlongs in 1:17 4-5 and the mile in 1:44.

"The work was good enough, however, to make Dick Thompson, E. H. Bradley's trainer, remark that the horse that beats Bold Venture would take the major share of the purse."

How to Buy a Bicycle

When you buy a bicycle examine it carefully first. See that the two sprockets are in perfect alignment so that the chain will run smoothly. See that the two wheels spin freely and are lined up so that when you ride the bicycle the two wheels track like one. See that all the bright parts are heavily chromium-plated. Be sure that the spokes are rustproof and that the tires are Dunlops. Be sure that the bicycle you buy is a C.C.M. and then you will get the best there is in every detail.

C.C.M. "Girls" or "Boys" $32.00
C.C.M. "Ladies" 35.00
C.C.M. "Boy Scout" 36.00
C.C.M. "Standard Roadster" 37.50
C.C.M. "Road Racers" 52.50
C.C.M. "Motorbikes" 42.00
C.C.M. "Flyer" 47.50
C.C.M. "Delivery" (less basket) 55.00
Time payments may be arranged for a small extra charge. Ask your dealer for a catalogue.

So get your boy a bicycle just as soon as you can and let him enjoy the thrill and freedom and fun that only a bicycle can give. Don't delay because, as you know, boys grow up very quickly—become "big shots" and have to work and worry instead of laugh and play in the sunshine.

So help your son to enjoy a full boyhood by getting him a C.C.M. bicycle. I say a C.C.M. because it's the bike I first selected, and in all my years on the track I've never found anything better. The C.C.M. is a really beautiful piece of precision machinery. If it wasn't it would never carry me at top speed hour after hour around the race track and it's not my C.C.M.'s fault that "we" don't go faster.

C'mon, Dad. Buy your boy or your girl a bicycle and be sure it's a C.C.M.

So Long!

Judge's Conduct Is Questioned

Chief Justice's Words in Indian Murder Trial Reviewed

When the conduct of Chief Justice Morrison of the Supreme Court was referred to in the Court of Appeal here today as "disgraceful" because of his attitude on the Bench during the trial of the George brothers, Indians, subsequently sentenced to hang for the killing of Constable Oisbourne on the Canford Reserve two years ago, Mr. Justice M. A. MacDonald questioned such criticism of the Chief Justice of another court.

Mr. Justice Martin took issue with Mr. Justice M. A. MacDonald, and quoted the Supreme Court of Canada judgment by which Chief Justice Tuck of New Brunswick had been admonished for the manner in which he had presided, his conduct of the trial being declared to be "inflammatory and biased."

Stuart Henderson, counsel for the Indians with Henry Castillon, argued that the way was open for criticism of the Chief Justice's conduct of the trial.

Mr. Justice Martin supported this contention, declaring it was Mr. Henderson's right to be heard in the court to pursue such a course. Mr. Justice Martin said he himself would not hesitate to exercise similar courage if it were shown the Chief Justice should be admonished.

"The way the Chief Justice treated the whole four of us counsel in that trial was absolutely disgraceful," Mr. Henderson said.

Mr. Henderson spent all the morning session today going into the remarks to the jury of Chief Justice Morrison.

Regarding Chief Justice Morrison's action in asking the jury "Do you believe it for a moment?" with regard to the evidence of the Indians about their gathering at the reserve, Mr. Henderson said: "That is vilifying the defence and vilifying is what took place at this trial. There is a wrong way for a judge to put a thing as a way of putting it in favor of the other side."

Chief Justice MacDonald asked what was meant by Chief Justice Morrison's words to the jury that "the band was assembled."

"When you say that you should prove they were assembled," the Appeal Court Chief Justice went on. "It was for the Crown to prove that."

Mr. Henderson went on to quote the words of Chief Justice Morrison that it was necessary "to send a strong man to put the fear of the Lord into these men for their own protection" as justification for stringent police interference.

Mr. Henderson said Chief Justice Morrison's words were inflammatory against the defence and an invitation to the police to beat up Indians, with the suggestion that if anyone tried to interfere such a person would be guilty of interfering with the constables in the discharge of their duty.

Mr. Justice MacDonald commented as the reading proceeded that Chief Justice Morrison's address "gets better as it proceeds."

Mr. Henderson as the court recessed for luncheon this afternoon was taking up the remark of Chief Justice Morrison when he said to the jury: "Now, gentlemen of the jury, if you want a good sleep tonight, do let us have the opportunity to do the same thing."

The argument is proceeding with Mr. Henderson taking up the question of malice aforethought.

Mr. Henderson has been addressing the court since a week ago Monday. Mr. Henderson asserted that Chief

CREDIT SYSTEM IS EXPLAINED

E. Harrison Says Salesman Should Have Knowledge of Collections

The credit manager of today had to be a salesman and the salesman had to know something about credit, E. Harrison, chief accountant of the B.C. Electric Railway Co., said in pointing out that harmony should exist between the two departments at the weekly luncheon of the Victoria Credit Grantees' Association in Spencer's dining-room today.

The important thing with the sales manager was volume and it was very difficult to make any of them believe that any prospect was a poor risk. However, on the other hand, there was the Spanish Inquisition methods of some credit departments which simply ruined sales.

Mr. Harrison outlined the simple, speedy and accurate system under which his department operated in collecting accounts. Altogether his company had some 35,000 active accounts in both east and west.

These were divided up so that 1,200 of them fell due every day of the year. A certain amount of time was allowed customers to pay their bills, the time depending upon the credit standing of the customer. When this time elapsed reminders were sent and finally when these proved useless services were discontinued.

Lawrence Mallek introduced Mr. Harrison.

C. G. Banner, president of the Credit Association, announced with regret that he was leaving the city. He had been transferred to the Hudson's Bay Company in Vancouver.

He introduced Tom McPherson, who had been elected to the board of directors to take his place.

POLITICIANS GETTING BUSY

By-elections, Conservative and Liberal Meetings Are Listed

Political circles in British Columbia are preparing for a busy summer as the major parties begin laying the foundation for the next election, probably in 1937.

The provincial government faces a test of public support in the by-elections—Burned and Omineca—are expected to take place in the middle of June. Setting of the date for these polls is anticipated soon after the return of Premier Pattullo from his present trip to the east.

At the same time the Conservative party, dormant since its overwhelming defeat of 1933, will attempt reconciliation at a party gathering in Vancouver, also in June. The main purpose will be to select a new leader.

Within a few weeks of this, it is expected the provincial executive of the Liberal party will also convene. The consideration of a party convention and adjustment of the executive officers are listed as two important subjects. Leadership may also be at this meeting, according to political gossip.

The third major party, the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, also planning an active summer in hopes of giving Canada its first Socialist government.

The Victoria West Liberal Social Club will hold its weekly card party this evening in the clubrooms, 414 Skinner Street. The usual prizes will be given and refreshments served. All Liberals and friends are invited to attend. The affair will start at 8 o'clock.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Theft of $5.15 and $9 worth of milk tickets from the Victoria City Dairy, Fort Street, on Saturday night, was reported to the city police yesterday.

Convicted on a charge of driving to the common danger on Gorge Road, Laurence MacKay was fined $15 in the City Police Court this morning.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada will hold a card party Thursday evening in the auditorium of the headquarters. The event will be open to the public at 8 o'clock.

The Provincial Museum will go on summertime schedule on May 1, until October 31, Francis Kemode, director, announced. This means the museum will be open to the public from 1 to 5 o'clock on Sunday afternoons in addition to week days.

A meeting of the Junior Spanish Pioneer Society will be held at the Pioneer Log Cabin, Saanichton, tomorrow evening, at 8 o'clock. Any young person who has resided in Saanichton for ten years or more is eligible to become a member, and is invited to be present.

Starting tomorrow, the first of a series of mid-week dances will take place at the Army and Navy Veterans' ballroom in the headquarters, Wharf Street. These dances will alternate each week from modern to old-time dances. The dance tomorrow will be modern.

A general meeting of Ward Two Liberal Association will be held this evening in Liberal headquarters at 8 o'clock. Joseph B. Clearburn will be the speaker. He will speak on the provincial health bill as it affects the general public. All Liberals are asked to be present. Refreshments will be served by the ladies of Ward Two.

An open meeting under the auspices of the Canadian Anti-Vivisection Society will be held on Friday, May 1, at 8:15 in Y.W.C.A. clubrooms. The subject of herbal remedies will be introduced by Miss Dora Kito. The affair is semi-social in character and the talk will be followed by music and refreshments. Interested persons are cordially invited.

The customs division of the Department of National Revenue has knowledge of $5 of conscience money from an unknown person in Victoria. The money was sent in an envelope marked "Victoria, April 14, 1936," together with an unsigned note stating that the amount represented customs duty which should have been paid on a certain parcel but was evaded.

Eighty perjury charges arising out of a conviction against Meha Singh, charged with assaulting Burditt Singh, will be heard against East Indians in the City Police Court tomorrow morning. Meha Singh, Kharmas, Tika Harman and Bhola appeared this morning and were remanded until tomorrow morning when Gordon Cameron, defence counsel, informed the court, the case would proceed.

The Legion of the Moose No. 53, branch of the local lodge, Local Order of Moose, No. 1390, spent an enjoyable evening yesterday in the K. of P. Hall, Broad Street. Progress has been made in the first Friday of the month. Tickets for the play may be procured from Miss Phyllis Williams at Ballantyne Brothers, florists, Douglas Street, or from any member of the cast, or at the door.

An hilarious comedy, "Borrowed Duds," will be presented by the Welsh Young People on Tuesday evening, May 5, in the S.O.E. Hall, Broad Street, at 8 o'clock. The play will take the place of the regular monthly meeting of the Victoria Welsh Society, generally held in the hall of the same name. Tickets for the play may be procured from Miss Phyllis Williams at Ballantyne Brothers, florists, Douglas Street, or from any member of the cast, or at the door.

Asks New Type Understanding

Dr. W. A. Carrothers Tells Kiwanians of Hope of World

A new type of international understanding, not one of saying nice things for the sake of being nice, but one of discussing differences as a basis for co-operation, was the plea of Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the British Columbia Economic Council, in a talk to the Kiwanis Club today on the international situation.

The service clubs, he believed, could do a great deal towards such an understanding. "I believe it is with the English-speaking peoples that peace and the possibility of peace rest," he said.

Dr. Carrothers reviewed the circumstances leading up to the present situation in the international sphere, and the possible outcome of the problems of that situation.

"We seem to be held in the meshes of the net of circumstances, unable to clear a passage for human progress. No one knows—not even those guiding world events—what will happen. There are so many imponderables in the situation. The present situation did not come out of the blue. It was the inevitable development of the past," he said.

The Great War, in the opinion of Dr. Carrothers, was an attempt to solve the problem. It was doomed to failure. But the war was not an isolated event. It was one in the chain of events, with the fall of the nineteenth century international system, and which continues today.

The Great War, he said, was not the cause of the present problems. It only accentuated and hastened them, and changed their color somewhat. With the break-up of the nineteenth century international system, the world became too small for the peoples which occupied it. Despite the tariffs and its barriers, the nineteenth century had been a period of free international intercourse.

The world had been trying, said Dr. Carrothers, to build up a new system of international relations. The subject of the tariff and its barriers, but it had failed or else was on the verge of failure.

"All our attempts at rebuilding since the war have failed, in the main because of the unjust solution of the Great War, especially in the Versailles Treaty."

Dr. Carrothers believed the German people were doing just what any other vigorous nation would have done in the same circumstances.

"Versailles did not end the economic war which existed before the outbreak of the Great War, and which has continued since," said Dr. Carrothers. "It has only made it more disastrous to many countries than the Great War itself."

The psychological, rather than the economic, factors were the main danger now, he believed.

NATIONS IN TWO GROUPS

The nations of the world fell into two groups, those that believed in the old salivations of their people lay in expansion and those others, already holding control of large territories, which were determined to hold that which was theirs.

With the conflict of the expansionists and the possessionists, it did not take much intelligence, he said, to see what the outcome would be.

"Conflict is bound to ensue sooner or later. The only question is whether it will be sooner or later. In that conflict, he believed, no country would go unscathed, however isolationist its policy might be."

"It is difficult to avoid being somewhat pessimistic when we see such a noble feeling as patriotism used to ignore ends," said Dr. Carrothers.

"Patriotism is a splendid, necessary thing, but it is a tragic thing that sentiment used to the advantage of interested groups within the community which try to identify themselves through propaganda, with the community."

"The majority of people do not understand the real forces at work in the world and community. In consequence their prejudices can be played on, and their noble sentiments perverted."

TWO FUTURE COURSES

For the future, Dr. Carrothers saw two possible lines of development:

"The first was in science. 'If we look at the discoveries of science—the powers of progress which science has put in our reach—we can picture a twentieth century much greater in happiness and well-being than any man ever dreamed of. The possibilities of production of wealth which are at our door, unused, are unimaginable.'"

The second was the prospect of disaster, of the breakdown of the civilization and mode of life of the western world.

"But I am not so sure another great war would destroy civilization," he said.

"It is not possible," he asked, "that it is only force that can release the forces that science has given us for human progress, that would free us from the net in which we are caught, and set us on the road to progress?"

LOUISE R. JOHNSTON

Funeral services for the late Louise R. Johnston, who passed away at the Royal Inland Hospital, Kamloops, on April 25, were held this morning. The Rev. N. E. Smith conducted the services in the presence of a large gathering of sorrowing friends. The hymns were "Abide With Me" and "Lead, Kindly Light." Many beautiful flowers were received. Interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park. The pallbearers were: F. E. Winslow, Gordon Cameron, F. D. Mulholland, G. S. Andrews, F. C. Green and R. A. Bainbridge.

MARK CLOVERDALE GRAHAM

Word reached the city yesterday of the passing in Santa Monica, California, on Sunday of Mark Cloverdale Graham, third son of the late Councilor Wm. H. V. Graham and Mrs. Graham, pioneer residents of Saanichton. The late Mr. Graham was born in Victoria forty-four years ago and spent his early years in this city, where he was employed as an engineer. After several years on the prairies, he left for the south, where he engaged in the motor business in Santa Monica.

Besides his widow, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. W. Graham, 3339 Tennyson Avenue; three sisters, Mrs. John Woolcock and Miss C. V. Graham, Victoria, and Mrs. Winston Gardner of Seattle, and four brothers, Wm. H. V. Graham, Cecil W. and George E. all of Victoria.

DELEGATIONS TO MEET ALDERMEN

St. Joseph's and Civic Employees Will Be Represented at Interviews

Representatives from St. Joseph's Hospital board of directors and the Civic Employees' Federation will meet with the City Council in interviews which will follow a session of the council on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Charles E. Wilson will appear on behalf of the hospital. It is understood he will approach the council with a view to seeking financial aid for St. Joseph's. The delegation representing the employees will request the council for restoration in full of salary cuts in consideration of the current year's estimates, supporting a letter which has already been filed with the council.

It is expected the council will sit on Monday and probably the tax rate will be struck at the meeting.

One in Custody After Collision

Bellingham, Wash., April 28.—Two of the persons injured in the fatal automobile wreck on Sunday night south of Blaine on the Pacific Highway were still in a critical condition today in a hospital here. Three persons were killed when a car driven by Graydon Blackley of Vancouver, B.C., was in head-on collision with a Bellingham car.

Clarence Baller, a prominent poultryman of this district, still lies in a semi-conscious condition in the hospital, while his wife's condition is said to be "unsatisfactory." Both have fractures of the skulls and Mrs. Baller also suffered a fracture of one hip.

In the meantime Blackley was placed under arrest. He was not seriously hurt in the wreck and has been removed from the hospital to his home. Officials have not decided whether to hold an inquest, but Prosecuting Attorney H. W. Cowell has indicated he may file charges against Blackley in any event.

Robert Blackley, aged seven, son of Graydon Blackley, is still in the hospital, but his condition is much improved.

Washington, April 28.—The House today gave tentative approval to the heart of the new tax bill—a system of rates to apply to corporation income graduated according to profits.

A few small shops employing about fifty men are expected to come to terms with the union later.

PLANNING FOR BIG SEASON

R. R. Coysh, Here After South Tour, Says Banff Will Open June 13

Mountain hotel resort season of the Canadian Pacific Railway will open on Saturday, June 13 with movement through the Rockies exceeding the high level of last year, states R. R. Coysh, manager of the Banff Springs Hotel, who is in Victoria today after a tour of the south as far as Dallas, Texas.

"Everybody in the United States and Canada are all pepped-up over the travel prospects for this year," said Mr. Coysh when seen at the Empress Hotel this morning.

"Everywhere I have been on my tour I have heard people talking about the Canadian northwest which is becoming much more widely known as a scenic vacation centre."

"As far as Banff Springs is concerned I am convinced this season is going to be much better than last year, and that was pretty good. We are making preparations for a large guest list."

"Each of the travel and to and from the Pacific Coast through Victoria and Vancouver will be routed via the Rocky Mountain resorts and we expect to be extremely busy during the three-month season."

The Banff season will close September 15, the hotel manager said.

Mr. Coysh is visiting here before starting on his complete plans for the opening of the Banff Springs Hotel. T. Clifford Whelan, assistant manager at the Empress Hotel, who for the last two seasons has worked with Manager Coysh as assistant manager at Banff, is expected to return to the mountains this summer.

Another visitor to the city who is on a great travel year, is E. A. McGinness, general agent, C.P.R. passenger department at Winnipeg.

MEAT DEALERS NAME OFFICERS

Organized as Section of Merchants' Association

The meat dealers of Greater Victoria, at a meeting at the Douglas Hotel, last evening, elected permanent officers.

Walter Cross, who acted as chairman, said he was glad to see that at last the meat dealers of Victoria had got together.

B. T. Derry, Victoria secretary, reported on having visited the meat dealers with Mr. Cross and practically without exception all meat dealers interviewed had expressed their approval of the meat dealers getting together as a meat dealers' section of the Retail Merchants' Association.

Geo. R. Matthews, provincial secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association, stated that negotiations were in progress with Hon. James Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, drawing to his attention to how unsatisfactory were present regulations regarding the sale of butter. As all butter was not graded some firms were advertising three pounds for 85 cents, without mentioning any grade, while other firms were using as a low grade first-grade butter as low as three pounds for 75 cents when the actual wholesale price was 25 1/2 cents a pound. Butter at three pounds for 75 cents did not represent today's actual carload wholesale cost.

He stated he was in Victoria to confer with Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, to seek co-operation of the provincial government in securing regulations that required the stating of the actual grade in all advertisements, so that the public would not be deceived and would know whether they were buying first, second or third grade butter.

The advisability of meat dealers coming under the apprenticeship act and the basis as set out by the meat dealers of Vancouver was approved, namely, that there be an agreement entered into between employer and employee setting out that the employee must serve at least 50 per cent of his time actually in the shop so that he might receive adequate tuition to qualify in a special time.

Mr. Cross stated since it had been known that the meat dealers were in process of organization in Victoria, complaint had been received that the meat dealers were purchasing their requirements at wholesale and that at the Christmas season the raffling of turkeys had become such a common practice that quite a percentage of the sale of turkeys was diverted through these channels.

Mr. Matthews stated that at the conference of the Western Canada Livestock Union, held in the Vancouver Hotel recently, it had been revealed there was estimated to be a surplus of cattle in Canada of some 200,000 head and that Canada imported from the Argentine some 7,000,000 pounds of canned meat. A recommendation was made that Canada use the lower grades of meat for canned purposes to replace the imported product.

The election of officers was very unusual in that several tied for office, necessitating a second ballot being passed. The officers finally elected were: Walter Cross, chairman; Harry Stanley, vice-chairman; executive committee, Fred Lock, John Sturges, A. L. McKenzie, D. E. Taylor and D. Fletcher.

R. T. Derry is the Victoria secretary, with offices located at 305 Sayward Building.

Baseball players of Victoria are asked to attend a workout this evening at 8 o'clock at the Athletic Park. All persons who wish to play this game are invited to attend.

URGE BETTER RADIO DEAL

A better deal from the Canadian Radio Commission and the need for a more powerful radio station in Victoria were stressed yesterday evening by speakers at the public meeting held by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium.

The meeting was called mainly to get citizens to support a move for more adequate radio facilities for Vancouver Island.

William O. Findlay, secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, cited incidents during the last two years, when the Junior Chamber had written members of the Radio Commission in "Vancouver and other public officials in an effort to secure the broadcasting of the Canadian basketball finals, in which Victoria has been the chief contender. Mr. Findlay said that the first time the excuse was that not sufficient time had been given to change the national schedule. The year the Commission was approached on March 27, one month before the finals, the Victoria request was turned down again.

It was pointed out that C.R.C.V. Vancouver, which is the western terminus of the Canadian Radio Commission's chain, could only be heard in Victoria occasionally, owing to other stations interfering, especially from Mexico. Speakers urged that the various local organizations pull together and demand a "radio link" with Vancouver Island and the mainland.

It was indeed a shame that Victoria has to rely on American stations for its programs and news broadcasts, said Leslie Osborne, president of the Junior Chamber. When the Moose River Mine incident occurred, many persons owing to interference, had to turn to KJR to get the latest news on the happenings, Mr. Osborne said.

Speakers brought up the question of greater power needed for Victoria's station C.R.C.V. G. W. Desville, operator of the local station, stressed however that power was not the important factor, it was the change in wave length that was needed. He said there was little prospect of a change there until the Imperial Conference on radio was held in 1927.

Jack Taylor, president of the Victoria and District Basketball League, said his organization had a difficult time getting the telegraphic descriptions of the western Canada basketball finals, but he said it would be almost impossible to hear them over the network from C.R.C.V. which is always having interference.

"What qualifications have the executive of the Canadian Radio Commission?" asked Frank Partridge. Need for younger men on the Canadian Radio Commission's executive, who would get the pulse of it, was urged by Mr. Partridge. The superiority complex, evident in the east over the west, would some day cause a split-up, he said.

Byron Johnson, M.P.P., who came from Vancouver on purpose to attend the meeting, emphasized that network's chain, Vancouver Island could then get on the map, through this fine form of advertising. This, he said, would draw out hidden local talent, and would create a greater understanding of national issues and national music by the younger generation.

Mr. Findlay announced that $25,000 was paid to the Canadian Radio Commission annually from Victoria through radio licenses and about $40,000 from the Lower Island.

Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., declared emphatically that he was not in favor of governments spending any more money, but was in favor of money taken from a certain locality being spent in that locality. He said he would endorse any move in that direction.

The secretary announced that radio license fees in Canada totaled over $1,000,000, and the Canadian Radio Commission's upkeep left a profit of $225 per cent. The three executives of the Canadian Radio Commission get $64,000 a year between them, it was disclosed.

Country Women Of World to Meet

Montreal, April 28.—Miss E. M. Zimmermann of London, corresponding secretary of the Associated Country Women of the World, arrived from England by the Canadian Pacific liner Montcalm yesterday morning.

Her visit is in connection with the annual meeting of the international organization to be held at Washington in June from which the delegates will return by way of Montreal.

I am to meet Miss Hazel McCauley of MacDonald College, to discuss arrangements for the entertainment of the delegates after the convention, Miss Zimmermann told the ship news reporters who met the Montcalm.

The Associated Country Women of the World is a federation of women's institutes of which a former Torontoan, Mrs. Alfred Watt of London, England, is the president. Mrs. Watt started the women's institute movement in England when she took up residence there in 1917.

Miss Zimmermann will stay in Montreal two or three days before going to Washington.

MURRAY TALKS ALASKA ROAD

San Francisco, April 28.—Visions of a highway which would open up a vast new territory and give motorists of this nation direct access to Alaska were conjured up here by a distinguished visitor, George M. Murray, member of the British Columbia Legislature for Lillooet.

He declared that a project to build a 500 mile road, at an estimated cost of $5,000,000, from the town of Hazelton, B.C., to the Alaska border.

There are already good roads, he said, from the United States border to Hazelton, and money has been appropriated by this country for connecting highways in Alaska. Hazelton is about halfway between the two borders.

"The proposed Canadian highway," Murray said to the San Francisco Examiner, "would be of incalculable value to the entire west coast region of the continent. And there is no reason why it cannot be accomplished."

This is 1936. As far back as 1860, Senator George Hearst and other men of daring vision started construction of a telegraph line which was to reach across the Bering Sea and give San Francisco direct connection with Paris. It reached a point near Hazelton, but the project ended the day the Atlantic cable was laid. Surely in this day and age a highway to Alaska is not impossible.

"The project has been moving forward for several years. In 1930 a joint commission of American and Canadian engineers made field notes on it and estimated the cost. They showed also what it would mean."

"The economic value would be tremendous. Construction of the highway will provide thousands of jobs. It will open a huge new Lady Beth thought quickly, as the emergency demanded. She gasped critically at the time figure on the rock. "Yes," she nodded, "he is dead, but I who am Raal's messenger can restore her to life." Before the high priest could forbid, she knelt down beside the still figure.

In common with most athletic young women, Lady Beth knew the ordinary methods for resuscitating the drowned. With Raal's aid she fell to work with a will born not only of compassion, but of vital necessity. After ten minutes, she knelt down beside the still figure.

The people of Canaan cried out in astonishment: "Forgive us, O Heavenly One! We shall not doubt thee again." But Raal's furrowed his narrow brow. Again he saw his power passing into the hands of this stranger, and his mad, epileptic mind conceived new defenses.

"Hear me!" Raal's voice boomed. "If it not written in the sacred tablets that witches and deceivers will come amongst us to turn us from Raal's path? In this not forbidden sorcery which gives life to one who has died by Raal's will?" From the multitude rose a mighty "Yes!"

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX-I am the "Other Woman" of whom we hear so much and who causes wives so many hysterics, and I want to explain something about this triangle business, and why we are.

It is because the wife, through selfishness or ignorance, ceases to make her husband happy and contented, and because this "Other Woman" does. That's the whole thing in a nutshell. As long as a wife caters to her husband the "Other Woman" does not exist.

What wives are too dumb to recognize is that whether the "Other Woman" is tall or short, fat or thin, dark or light, her art in charming is nothing but making a man comfortable, whether that means entertaining him when he is tired, or listening to him when he is bored. What he likes, what he dislikes to eat, say or do are of the first importance to her. She gets pleasure in submerging herself and putting him forward, whereas the wife feeds her ego instead of his, making him dread to come home because of complaints and whining and scenes and hysterics.

Most wives are fools in dealing with their husbands. They are always afraid of some woman taking their husbands away from them; but, in reality, a wife has every advantage in the world over the "Other Woman." First, Her husband is in love with her or he would not have married her. If she has thrown away his affection, it is her own fault.

Second, She has public opinion to back her. It is only when a man is desperate that he will flout convention. Third, She has the home. Every man loves his home if it is made a home for him and not a house for him, and a home for his wife, children and his wife's relatives and friends. Fourth, If there are children, they are her greatest weapons. Men love their children and do not want to be parted from them. Any woman can hold her husband by teaching the children to play up to Daddy.

Fifth, She has his love of peace. Most pacifists, at least, at home. They abhor fights and scenes, especially with women, and more especially with women for whom they have cared. They would much rather come home, put on their slippers, take off their coats and relax than lie, evade and sneak out to the "Other Woman."

Incidentally, appearance, not beauty, but cleanliness and smartness keeps the "Other Woman" away. The "Other Woman" knows that if she is unclean or untidy that the man will leave, whereas the wife is so sure that because he is married to her that she can be as sloppy and lazy as she pleases about herself and he will have to stand it. And she is so surprised when he does something about it.

Or the wife may keep such a darned immaculate home and be so touch-me-not herself that she drives her husband to some place where he can smoke sitting in an easy chair, and vent his desire to run his hands through some woman's hair who is willing to comb it again if it gets mussed.

Most of the women who boast of being such good wives are only good to themselves. They cook what they like to eat. They furnish the house the way they like it. They go to the clubs they like. They take the people they like. They see the shows they like. They run the home the way they like to do it. And husband is only the man who brings home the pay cheque. And that's why husbands roam. Believe me, a few kisses and caresses, his favorite dishes, an easy chair would keep nine-tenths of the wandering husbands home.

Wives make me sick. Either they should care enough for a man to make him happy that they shouldn't marry him and make him unhappy and then raise Cain because some other woman is making life worth while for him.

If wives would fight as intelligently after marriage to keep their husbands as they do before marriage to get them, they would virtually never lose their husbands. I am the "Other Woman." I know many "Other Women" and I have never known one of us who wasn't in deadly fear of losing the man she loved because his wife could win him back if she tried hard enough. But we are never frightened if the wife thinks more of herself than she does of her husband.

Answer-Here speaks the voice of authority. I commend this woman's letter to the careful perusal of every wife. Cut it out and keep it in the back of your bag where you can read it over every day. It will save you a lot of grief and maybe a trip to the divorce court.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX-I am a girl of eighteen, very much in love with a man of fifty-two. My grandfather says that the man is too old for me, but younger ones don't seem to understand me as well. Do you think that age can be an insurmountable obstacle to our happiness? ANXIOUS.

Answer-It certainly is when eighteen meets fifty-two. You think you are in love with this man because he treats you as a boy of your own age would. But if you marry him, you will soon find that you have nothing in common with him, and both of you will be perfectly miserable. He should have more sense, even if you have not, than to go into such a marriage.

Uncle Wiggily's Legs

By HOWARD H. GARRIS

As Uncle Wiggily hopped down the path to the front door to go adventuring, the day after the funny April shower, Baby Bunty called:

"Uncle Wiggily! That was all the baby talk the little orphan rabbit was allowed to use."

"Yes, my dear. What is it?" asked Mr. Longears as he looked back.

"Please bring a dozen legs with you after you have an adventure, Uncle Wiggily," said Bunty.

"Yes, that's what Nurse Jane told me to please to ask you," she said.

"Oh, well, all right," said Uncle Wiggily thoughtfully but puzzled. "I'll get them when you come, along to school, Bunty, and don't be late."

ALL WIFE "All wife-I mean all right, Uncle Wiggily," said Bunty, who sometimes said "Uncle Wiggily" and sometimes said "Uncle Wiggily's legs."

"I won't forget the dozen legs," said Bunty, who got that right. A dozen legs for Nurse Jane. Oh, I know. She must be going to, but now wooden legs on some of the chairs. I know some chairs have broken legs and perhaps Nurse Jane has found a dozen that need fixing. Well, I'll stop at Mr. Flat Tail's carpenter shop and get a dozen chair legs."

Mr. Flat Tail was a beaver gentleman, so named because he had a very broad flat tail that he used to steer himself with when he swam. He also used his flat tail as a sort of chair when he sat to gnaw down trees to make dams in streams. Beavers build their houses of mud and sticks, partly under water, and to get the water deep enough they make a dam or wall across a brook.

A LOT OF LEGS "A dozen chair legs, eh?" asked Mr. Flat Tail when Uncle Wiggily told him what he wanted. "Yes, I have some I gnawed out last week. Take them with you."

"But a dozen legs seems a lot," said Bunty.

"Yes, I know. But that's what Nurse Jane told me to please to ask you," said Bunty.

"Oh, yes," said Uncle Wiggily. He put some in one pocket and some in another pocket and some under his paw. The leg stuck out all over.

"You look like a prickly porcupine!" laughed Mr. Flat Tail.

"Oh, well, no matter," said Uncle Wiggily and he also laughed.

On the way home, all of a sudden, out from behind a bush sneaked the Bob Cat with his sly little tail. He cooed Uncle Wiggily coming. But when he started to chase the bunny and saw the dozen chair legs sticking out of the Bob Cat said:

"Oh, my! I guess I'd better not jump on him. I'd get stuck." So the Bob Cat slunk away and didn't chase Uncle Wiggily, who was soon safe at home with the pieces of wood.

"Here are your dozen legs," Nurse Jane said. "Dozen legs?" cried Miss Fussy Bunty, laughing. "I said Bunty to ask you to

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 29, 1936

Benefic aspects are dominant today, according to astrology. It is a day most fortunate for women's interests.

Under the rule of Venus, negotiations and reform movements projected by women will gain impetus. The press will be helpful.

Weddings on this date should be held, if possible, since happy partnerships are promised. Brides who wear white should be particularly lucky.

Girls who pursue the profession of acting should profit today, for the stage as well as the screen will prosper before the end of the month.

The planetary government encourages all the arts and the summer is to be a period of triumph for musicians. They will profit exceedingly.

Child welfare and laws governing marriage will be widely discussed in the next few weeks. Sensational cases in the courts will reveal injustices to the young generation.

Stock markets in New York and London will be active next month, when international events will affect the world's financial structure.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of prosperity, but there may be unusual expenditures. Much company and many social demands may be expected for many.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly progressive in their ideas. Many persons of extraordinary intellect are born under this sign of Taurus.

April 29, 1936, is a birthday for many. Those who were born on this day, 1936, others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Matthew Vassar, mill educator and poet, 183; and William B. Ewald, soldier and politician, 1897.

LABOR'S COURSE NON-PARTIZAN

Associated Press Washington, April 28.-William Green, president of the A.F. of L., yesterday exhorted member unions to shun "any political movement designed to serve as a substitute for the federation's non-partisan policy."

The labor chief's action followed the formation several weeks ago of "Labor's Non-Partisan League," the approved purpose of which was to support President Roosevelt and fight enemies of the New Deal.
